DEATH HOAX REVEALED BY MAN'S ARREST

Exhumes Another's Body to Pass for Own; Wife Sues for Insurance Money

BULLETIN

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 6.—The grave of William McPhee, from which a man representing himself to California authorities as Edward J. Sailstad, said he took the body to place in the burning Sailstad cottage adjoining the cemetery, was opened this afternoon. The body was missing.

NAPA, Dec. 6.—"I am willing and ready to pay the price."

Thus briefly Edward J. Sailstad, 30, Eau Claire, Wis., business man, summed up his future course, after being taken into custody here by authorities, on charges of perpetrating an insurance fraud and burning a summer cottage in Wisconsin in which he had placed an exhumed body and disappearing.

Sailstad, near collapse last night, had partially regained his nerve today. He was visibly affected when a telegram signed "Mother" from Superior, Wis., was handed him. It read:

"Don't worry. No matter what happens we are with you. Wire at once to me."

His principal thoughts today were for Dorothy Anderson, the stenographer who fled with him, and who, seriously ill of tuberculosis, is held as a witness at the Napa hospital. He declared that they had pledged undying loyalty to each other, no matter what happened. Sailstad said he was ready to return to Wisconsin and 'face the music."

Miss Anderson, in a statement to District Attorney Anglim this afternoon, confessed that she assisted Sailstad in the insurance hoax death plot.

She told District Attorney Anglim that she waited for Sailstad at the cemetery from which the body was exhumed, assisted him in carrying it away and then rode around for a short time in the automobile in which it was carried to the cottage. She admitted, Anglim said, that she had assisted in placing the body in the cottage which was then set on fire.

When told by the district attorney that Mrs. Sailstad had re-married, the eyes of the girl flashed and she exclaimed.

"And they call that love! I want the world to know I loved Edward. I would go through hell for him.

"Oh, God, how I wish he did not have to be going away from me. He never spoke a cross word to me and oh how happy we were."

The district attorney, after securing the full confessions of both Sailstad and Miss Anderson said that he did not believe that they had plotted to defraud the insurance companies. He said

Scott High School, National Interscholastic Champion, Seeks Game with Winner of Long Beach-Glendale Contest Saturday

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.

That Glendale's champion high school football team is bringing publicity to this city, of a nature that money could not buy, is evidenced by the receipt of a wire from Scott High school of Toledo, Ohio, national interscholastic champions, asking for a post-season game with the winner of the Glendale-Long Beach contest next Saturday.

As the rules of the California Interscholastic Federation prohibit these affairs with teams from outside the state, there is no possibility of such a game being arranged, much to the disappointment of local rooters, who are confident of victory for the Red and Black in the game deciding the championship of Southern California.

For several years Scott high school has played such teams as Everett, Washington and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and that they should consider Glendale in a post season game is worth a great deal to this city.

Interest at Fever Heat

Never in the history of the local high school has so much interest been displayed in any athletic event.

Responding to repeated requests from parents and outsiders, a "pep" meeting will be held in the auditorium tonight at 7:30 o'clock, at which Archie Neal will lead the cheering, Coach Hayhurst, Captain West and other members of the team will make short talks, and a number of selections will be given by the high school orchestra.

Two rousing student rallies were held yesterday, and practically the entire student body will attend the game Saturday.

Alumni to Attend

A special section of the north side of the Coliseum, which was allotted to Glendale by the flip of a coin, will be reserved for the Glendale high school alumni.

Arrangements for concerted action by this section will be made

AUTO MEN FAVOR BONDS FOR SEWER

$1,600,000 Issue Wins Solid Indorsement of Local Motor Dealers

Members of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association went on record as unanimously favoring the proposed issue of sewer bonds at their monthly meeting at the Egyptian Village yesterday, the organization voting 100 per cent to support the campaign to pass the bonds at the election to be held on January 8, 1924.

C. H. Arbenz was present and explained the process used in the Gene Morriss system of auto painting, by which he gives two-day service on jobs brought to his plant.

It was recommended that a letter be sent to each distributor and factory stating the attitude of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association regarding the overloading of dealers and active co-operation of the dealer with distributors and factories.

Will Adopt Emblem

It was also advocated that the members of the association adopt an emblem to be used on all their advertising, to show their membership in the organization.

The association also plans to adopt uniform appraisal forms, in order to avoid too great variations in fixng values of automobiles.

Co-operation of all dealers' service men with other dealers will be sought, as the result of a motion presented at yesterday's meeting, and any failure on the part of service men to extend the fullest courtesy to other dealers' representtatives will be reported to the employer of the service man.

A committee of three will be appointed to call on members of the association who have not been regular in attendance at the meetings.

A letter from the Cleveland Dealers' association explained the methods used in that city in handling used cars.

COAST SWEPT BY SOUTHERLY GALE

Hurricane Leaves Trail of Ruin Over Wide Path Through Northwest

PORTLAND, Dec. 6.—Shipping is impaired, many telephone and telegraph wires are down, and considerable damage is believed to have resulted from an all-night southerly gale which swept the Pacific northwest.

A driving rain accompanied the gale which, at North Head and along the Tillamook coast, attained a velocity of more than sixty miles an hour. The sea was lashed into a fury and navigation became perilous, according to reports received here.

In Portland the storm raged continuously, shaking houses, breaking windows, uprooting trees and somewhat impairing street car and light service.

COAL STRIKE LOOMS

WILKESBARRE, Dec. 6.—An anthracite strike which at the outset will affect 17,000 strikers, and which may sweep through the entire anthracite region tying up all mines and rendering more than 50,000 men idle, seemed almost unavoidable today as 17,000 employes of the Lehigh Valley Coal company prepared to lay down their tools tomorrow.

Aged Man Perishes From Exposure as Gale Sweeps City

SEATTLE, Dec. 6.—The lifeless form of an old man, huddled wet and cold in a downtown doorway where he died from exposure during the night, was one of the tragic details of a fierce rainstorm and gale which swept Seattle and the Pacific Northwest during the night, blowing down wires and frail buildings, forcing ships into port, and demoralizing street car service.

The gale attained a velocity of seventy-two miles an hour along the north coast and at Cape Flattery, according to reports received this morning.

JAIL THREE SUSPECTS

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 6.—Three suspected of being connected with the robbery of the Southern Pacific railroad's crack train near Redding, on October 11, were arrested early today in Henderson, Ky., by L. & N. railroad detectives. A fourth member is being sought.

ROBBED AND BEATEN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6. — Robbbed and badly beaten by two bandits who held him up in Spring street early today, Fay Miller, 27, guest at a downtown hotel, was treated at the receiving hospital for painful injuries received in his experience.

BURGLARS ESCAPE WITH $15,000 LOOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Burglars early today entered the home here of Leon Levin, wealthy importer, and made off with jewels valued at $15,000, according to a report made to the police by Levin.

CONTINUES SOLDIERS' BONUS ADVOCACY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—In the face of the announced opposition of President Coolidge, Senator Watkins, Democrat, of Oregon, today continued his advocacy of a soldiers' bonus by presenting plans for raising the necessary money which he claims would not bear heavily on the taxpayers.

DAUGHERTY FIGURES IN NAVAL OIL LEASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty was today drawn into the senate investigation of the leasing of naval oil reserve lands to private interests. Leslie C. Garnett, formerly special assistant attorney general, charged before the public lands that an injunction be sought to restrain the Standard Oil company of California from drilling oil section thirty-six on the Elk Hill reserve in California, described as the "richest single oil land in the country."

MELLON SUBMITS TAX SLASH PLAN

Draft of Legislation Aimed at Sweeping Reductions Goes to Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today sent to congress a draft of the legislation putting into effect his plan for sweeping tax reductions.

Chairman Green of the house ways and means committee announced that the Mellon draft would be used by the committee as a basis for proposed changes in the existing law. He hopes to have his committee organized early next week and it will proceed at once, he said, to consideration of tax reductions and soldier bonus.

REVEALS STATUS OF FOREIGN DEBT

Great Britain Only Debtor Attempting to Repay Loans, Says Mellon

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today wrote a letter to Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, informing him there were no developments to relate in the foreign debt situation.

The letter was written in reply to a request from Borah, who inquired concerning the status of the debts.

Mellon's letter points out that about $7,000,000,000 is still outstanding of the money loaned by the United States during the war and that Great Britain is the only big debtor which thus far definitely agreed to pay.

Political Omen Seen in British Election

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Election day in Great Britain today fell upon the seventh anniversary of the date when David Lloyd George became premier. The former premier was the most spectacular and most active figure in the political campaign and superstitious persons saw an omen in the fact that the election fell upon the anniversary of his political achievement.

NATION'S LEADER GIVES RECOMMENDATIONS UPON SCORE OF BIG PROBLEMS

Chief Executive Outlines Policies; Declares Reducing Taxation Now Paramount; Says League of Nations Dead Issue

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge announced his policies to the nation and to the world today. Appearing in person before a new congress that is filled with insurgency and torn with factional strife, he delivered a message of unusual bluntness and candor, and gave it his recommendations on more than a score of outstanding problems that press for solution. The paramount issue facing this congress, he declared, is immediate reduction of taxation. He gave his unqualified endorsement of the Mellon reduction program and announced his opposition to a soldiers' bonus. Referring to tax reduction, he said:

"Of all the services which congress can render the country, I have no hesitation indicating this one to be paramount. To neglect it, to postpone it, to obstruct it by unsound proposals, is to become unworthy of public confidence and untrue to public trust. The country wants this measure to have right of way over all others."

By far the greater part of Mr. Coolidge's first message as president was devoted to domestic affairs. His dealing with foreign affairs was brief and to the point.

He gave his endorsement to America's entering the world court, provided such reservations are attached as will make it clear we shall not become invoved with the League of Nations. The league, he said, is a dead issue, so far as the United States is concerned.

"Our country has definitely refused to adopt and ratify the covenant of the League of Nations," he asserted. "I am not proposing any change in this policy; neither is the Senate. The incident, so far as we are concerned, is closed."

He announced his opposition to any cancellation of war debts, declared Russia should not be recognized until she acknowledged her just debt and ceased propagandizing against the institutions of other countries, and finished off his dealing with foreign matters with the simple declaration that America wants and is willing to help other nations, but can best serve the world and herself by remaining free, independent and powerful.

Regarding the railroad problem and transportation in general, the president made three specific recommendations:

First—That Congress act at once to compel a revision of freight rates.

Second—That additional legislation be enacted to permit the railroads to consolidate voluntarily into regional systems, which he held to be the final remedy for the transportation industry.

Third—That the railway labor board, which the late President Harding recommended be abolished, be left alone until some better method is devised for adjusting disputes between the roads and their employes.

Concerning his many other policies touching domestic matters, Mr. Coolidge was brief and general.

He said there should be no tinkering with the tariff act; he advised that the government sell its remaining merchant ships and get out of the shipping business as quickly as possible; he discussed the prohibition question in a hundred words by saying the coast guard should be strengthened to prevent smuggling, and that all citizens should obey the dry laws; he recommended continuance of the present restricted immigration and urged the need of registering all aliens; he declared the government should extend every possible aid to the farmer in the way of credit and protection and then leave him to work out his own salvation: he proposed that Muscle Shoals be sold to the highest bidder; and in stating that he was opposed to government ownership of coal mines, he declared Congress should clothe the president with power to take emergency action in coal strikes.

Policy Differs

As outlined today, the Coolidge policy differs somewhat from that of Harding in three respects: Harding was unqualifiedly behind the world court; Coolidge is less enthusiastic, although favorable to it with reservations. Harding proposed compulsory consolidation of the railroads; Coolidge would give them a chance to voluntarily consolidate. Harding proposed the abolition of the railway labor board; Coolidge would keep it, at least, until some better method is devised for adjudication of wages and conditions of labor.

"We . . . have long sought the creation of a permanent world court of justice," said Coolidge. "I favor the establishment of such a court intended to include the whole world. That is, and has long been, an American policy.

Not Partisan Question

"Pending before the senate is a proposal that this government give its support to the permanent court of international justice which is a new and somewhat different plan. This is not a partisan question. It should not assume an artificial importance. . . .

"As I wish to see a court established and as the proposal presents the only practical plan on which many nations have ever agreed, though it may not meet every desire, I therefore commend it to the favorable consideration of the senate, with the proposed reservations clearly indicating our refusal to adhere to the League of Nations."

Then concerning the railroads: "The labor board . . . has been a great help, but it is not altogether satisfactory to the public, the employes or to the companies. If substantial agreement can be reached among the groups interested there should be no hesitation in enacting such agreement into law. If it is not reached, the labor board may very well be left for the present to protect the public welfare.

"Consolidation appears to be the only feasible method for the maintenance of an adequate system of transportation with an opportunity so to adjust freight as to meet such temporary conditions as now prevail in some agricultural sections.

"Additional legislation is needed giving authority for voluntary

$20,000,000 Asked to Feed Starving German Citizens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—An appropriation of $20,000,000 to purchase food for the "distressed and starving people of Germany" was asked of congress today in a bill introduced by Senator Lenroot, Republican of Wisconsin. The money would be spent to purchase supplies in the United States which would be shipped immediately to Germany in American vessels.

Register Now and Avoid Rush At Last Minute

Registration for voters who wish to vote at the sewer bond election, January 8, closes Saturday of this week. Better register early rather than stand in line Saturday night. Deputies at The Glendale Evening News office, 139 South Brand boulevard, are registering many voters daily. The hours are from 7:30 a. m. to 9 p. m. Register now and avoid the last minute rush! The greatest issue ever before the voters of Glendale is the sewer system. All loyal citizens will vote. Make certain YOU will be permitted to cast a vote on January 8. Do it now! It will be too late after this Saturday.

PLAYERS TO GIVE 'SMILIN' THROUGH'

Stock Company Will Present Noted Dramatic Success on December 15

A good clean play, presented by a competent company with a capable cast, is a decided educational factor in a community, declares Charles E. Royal, manager of the Royal Players, who will inaugurate their Glendale season on Saturday, December 15, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, with Jane Cowl's famous Broadway success, "Smilin' Through," presenting Edythe Elliott in the stellar role, supported by William Hildebrand, Charlotte Fletcher and Charles E. Royal.

"Owing to the fact that the big vaudeville and picture syndicates have purchased most of the large theatres of the country," says Mr. Roval, "our generation has never seen the great plays in anything like the proportion that the plays of a generation ago were seen and enjoyed by the people.

"And as far as real histrionic talent goes, a stock company offers it in abundance, where every player is required to assume a different role each week."

DEATHS---FUNERALS

INTERMENTS

The following interments took place Wednesday, December 5, 1923, in Grand View Memorial Park:

Funeral services for Loren Ivan Fisher, husband of Lulu Fisher of Burbank were conducted by the Glendale Elks Lodge No. 1289, of which the deceased was a member. A. C. Fillbach, undertaker, was in charge.

Services for Nathan Oscar Longfellow, who was shot while doing his duty as a police officer in San Fernando on December 2, 1923, were held Wednesday, December 5, in Grand View Memorial Park. Fellow officers of the county acted as escort from San Fernando.

ELIZABETH MAY KENNEDY

Mrs. Elizabeth May Kennedy of Piedmont street, La Crescenta, passed away at a Los Angeles hospital, Tuesday, December 4, 1923, at the age of 41 years.

She is survived by her husband, G. D. Kennedy, and two children.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the chapel of the L. G. Scovern company. Rev. Kelso of La Crescenta will officiate.

Interment will be in Forest Lawn. The L. G. Scovern company is in charge.

W. C. T. U. Meeting

"Christian Citizenship" is to be the subject of the meeting tomorrow of the W. C. T. U. with Mrs. Francy of 136 North Kenwood street. Mrs. Ruby Smart, president, will be unable to be present, because of her husband's illness, so Mrs. C. W. Bacon will be in charge of the meeting, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Hostess at Tea

Mrs. W. G. Lauderdale of 446 Riverdale drive is to be hostess tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 till 5 o'clock at a silver tea for the benefit of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teachers' association. All patrons and friends of the school are invited to attend.

P. E. O. Chapter

Chapter AH, P. E. O., enjoyed an all day meeting and luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Webster, 1020 South Central avenue on Wednesday.

The program, featuring the approaching holiday season, was given by Mrs. Caroline Kennedy, who read a Christmas story; Mrs. Wayne Smith gave a vocal solo and Mrs. H. J. Hellman, a piano solo.

This chapter, whose philanthropic activities are many, is endowing a bed in the True Love home of the Salvation army in Los Angeles. Yesterday gifts of groceries were brought for the Glendale Welfare council and soap for the truelove home, by the members of the chapter.

Mrs. J. J. Bresnahan of Needles, who is the house guest of her mother, Mrs. Webster, was a guest at the luncheon.

The assisting hostesses for the day were Mrs. Leslie Eames and Mrs. Chas. Turck.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. G. Windt of 1035 South Boynton street was a most delightful hostess yesterday, entertaining her bridge club at luncheon and cards.

Bouquets of rose colored sweetpeas and cunning old-fashioned nosegays in pastel shades, were features of the luncheon table decorations.

Mrs. Windt's guests were Mesdames L. C. Wolfe, J. A. Munn, F. Clark, M. M. Endicott, C. Young, George Kimball, L. Berndt, C. A. Redmond, R. L. Young, H. E. McCartney and Miss Eva Brehme.

Rodaire Club

Mrs. Herman Psenner of South Brand boulevard and Chestnut street was hostess last night at the meeting of the Rodaire club.

She used a yellow and white color scheme in decorating her home for the affair, and the same colors were seen in the appointments of the buffet luncheon.

The next meeting will be with Miss Eva Brehme of South Maryland, and a Christmas party will be held later with Miss Zilda Cross of West Windsor road.

Home Wedding

At a home wedding last night, December 5, 1923, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bellue, 352 West Myrtle street, their daughter, Miss Estella Josephine became the bride of Noel Vernon Carder. Rev. Louis Tinning of the Glendale Presbyterian church, officiated, with only a group of relatives present.

Mr. and Mrs. Carder are to make their home at 1009 Virginia place, Glendale.

Luncheon—Cards

Mrs. Harry B. Gardner entertained with a luncheon and card party yesterday afternoon at her home, 339 West Doran street.

The rooms of the Gardner home were decorated with artistic arrangements of large red chrysanthemums and greenery. Luncheon table appointments were also carried out in a red and white color scheme.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, followed by an afternoon of "five hundred." Mrs. Fannie Dean was awarded prize for high score and Mrs. Charles Allen was awarded second prize.

Those present were Mrs. Frank Hart of Colorado, Mrs. Joe Metzger of Washington, Mrs. Charles Allen and daughter, Mrs. Francis Wheleer of Vermont and Mesdames Alma Thompson, Fannie Barton, Daisy Graham, B. Edwards and Fannie Dean, all of Los Angeles.

School Program

The kiddies' Christmas program presented yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Doran Street Parent-Teacher association proved to be most enjoyable. The children taking part were all pupils of the kindergarten department and were directed by their teacher, Mrs. Ruth G. Maxon.

Several vocal solos given by Mrs. Albert Draper, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. W. F. Carroll, were greatly enjoyed.

During the business session over which Mrs. Clark Johnson presided, a report was given by the membership committee relative to plans for a membership drive which will be conducted at once.

Mrs. Johnson gave a talk pertaining to the reading circle, urging all mothers to become members, and telling of the benefit to be derived from the year's program.

Wednesday Club

One of the pleasant afairs of the week was the meeting of the Wednesday club, held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Sanders, 1320 North Brand boulevard.

The rooms of the Sanders home were artistically decorated with arrangements of chrysanthemums and breath of heaven, carrying out a rose and white color scheme.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which the afternoon was devoted to an informal social time.

Those present included Mesdames G. D. Roach, J. F. Hearnshaw, Frank Hester, William F. Nash, William Gibson, E. S. McKee, Stephen Packer, H. L. Clotworthy, J. Perkins, A. F. Muhleman, Chas. Clover, and Miss Clara Ringert of Glendale, and Mesdames H. C. Reed and Emma Reed of Long Beach, Mrs. Chas. Freshman of Los Angeles.

First Concert

Tonight will mark the formal opening of the Orpheus club of Los Angeles when the first concert will be given at the Philharmonic auditorium. The entire house has been sold out and no tickets are available now. The club comprises 88 male voices, and included in its membership the following Glendalians: Tom Hayward and brother, Stanley Searle, W. L. Hyde, Mr. Jackson and Ole Andresen.

Women Honored

Women's achievements and interests dominated the program yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the literature section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, at the clubhouse, according to Mrs. Harry C. Wilcox, curator.

The roll call was answered by each member with a few words on "A Woman I Admire." Then Mrs. Edgar Leavitt gave a most interesting talk on "Women Fifty Years Ago." Mrs. C. Woodbury gave a talk on "Women of Today' and Miss Mary Rhodes on "Outstanding Women of History."

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdames Helen Sawyer and S. O. Davis, assisted by Mrs. V. Rapp.

All the section members are requested to bring to the next meeting toys for children or jelly or other Christmas cheer for ex-service men.

BEGAN IN EARNEST

Anyone who walked through The Irish Linen Store this morning could have no doubt of it

The Christmas Shopping Has Begun in Earnest

There is a holliday atmosphere all through the store. And, in these early days of the holiday season, there is a freshness and special charm about the Christmas merchandise that makes it well worth while to begin now. In this store is assembled thousands of dollars' worth of high grade merchandise—merchandise of the Irish Linen Store quality. It is because of the completeness of the stock and its special readiness to suit every personal need, that we believe the store to be in even better holiday trim than ever before in its history.

PATRIOTIC NOTE AT CELEBRATION

D. A. R. Chapter Members Will Instruct Young Aliens In Americanism

Americanism is the keynote of all activities of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and a better expression of this spirit at Christmas time could not be found than the truly American Christmas celebration that the General Richard Gridley chapter, is planning for fifty little aliens, all under kindergarten age, at the Albion Street school in Los Angeles.

This will be the third annual Christmas party the Glendale women have sponsored at the Albion Street school, and at the meeting of the chapter yesterday at the Congregational church, it was announced that the affair will take place Friday, December 14. At that time the Glendale Daughters will take a beautifully decorated Christmas tree to the school and present each child with a cunning little black cotton cat, an American flag, candies, nuts, fruits and other little gifts.

Plan Christmas Cheer

The chapter is also planning to join in the Christmas cheer extended to the ex-service men and nurses at the Sawtelle hospital.

Mrs. C. W. Houston, regent, was in charge of the meeting yesterday, at which Mrs. Erminia Kirk of Santa Barbara, daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, founder of the Glendale chapter, was a special guest. It was Mrs. Kirk's pleasure to join with the members in listening to the various reports and plans, indicative of the carrying on of the work begun ten years ago by her mother.

The meeting yesterday was designated as "Benjamin Franklin Day" and after the business hour, Mrs. W. A. Sayler presented a program, opening with roll call, responded to with sayings from "Poor Richard's Almanac."

Gives Informal Sketch

Mrs. Frank W. Parr was then introduced and gave an interesting, informal sketch of the first fifty years of Franklin's life. A paper on "The Stamp Act and the Revolution" was then read by Mrs. Sayler.

Other interesting features of the afternoon was a brief report by Miss Ida Meyers on the recent council meeting of Southern California D. A. R. executives, and the announcement that there were present two real grand-daughters and two real great grand-daughters of Revolutionary soldiers.

SCOUTS TO HOLD COURT OF HONOR

Troops of Verdugo District Will Stage Ceremony on Saturday Night

Glendale Boy Scouts and leaders of Verdugo district council are to meet Sunday night at the Central Avenue Methodist church on South Central and Palmer avenues for a session of the Scout Court of Honor, and all parents and friends of the Scouts are receiving a cordial invitation to join with them in the gathering.

The Scout Court of Honor is held every three months in the various churches of the city for the purpose of conferring honors on individual Scouts and Scout troods. Rev. Leo C. Kline, pastor of the Central Avenue Methodist church, invited the Scouts to hold their court this time at his church, and the invitation was most happily accepted.

There will be fifty Scouts promoted and several troops honored on Sunday night, the meeting beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Eastman to Talk

Rev. Kline will open the service with the invocation and there will follow a brief talk by A. H. Eastman, member of the Court of Honor, on the "Troop Efficiency Contests."

During the past few months there have been many contests held between the various troops and, with the closing of the contests November 30, Troop 2 was accorded the honored place of victory. On Sunday night James A. Apffel, exalted ruler of the Glendale Elks lodge, will present a beautiful silk American flag to Troop 2.

Second place was won by Troop 3 and, on Sunday night, A. L. Ferguson, president of the Kiwanis club, will present the troop with troop colors.

Francis Henry will direct Scout demonstrations, after which Capt. W. C. Wattles, chairman of the Court of Honor, will take over the meeting.

The address of the evening will be given by Rev. Kline.

Athletic Trophy

Another honor will be given Troop 2 for winning the recent field day meet at Burbank. Roy L. Kent, another member of the Court of Honor, will present this troop with the bronze plaque, engraved with their name, to be kept by the troop for one year.

Final events of the evening will be singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "Taps."

DEMOCRATS AMBITIOUS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Eleven men with a single thought. Every one of the new Democratic senators has filed a request for membership on the powerful senate foreign relations committee, it was learned today. And, as though this wouldn't shock venerable statesmen, the eleven new solons also asked for posts on the senate finance committee, second in importance only to the foreign relations body. Although aiming high, few of the newcomers expect to be successful.

The Truth About Sewer Bond Issue

AGREEMENT BETWEEN GLENDALE AND LOS ANGELES

After months of negotiations the City of Glendale secured an agreement with the City of Los Angeles relative to the disposal of sewage of Glendale through the sewers of Los Angeles.

In a series of articles, of which this is the first, this agreement is republished and discussed. The first three articles of the agreement follow:

Agreement as Amended and Adopted, Oct. 10, 1923

"This Agreement, made and entered into this 26th day of September, 1923, by and between the CITY OF LOS ANGELES, a municipal corporation of the State of California, party of the first part, and the CITY OF GLENDALE, a municipal corporation of the State of California, party of the second part:

"WITNESSETH, That the party of the first part, in consideration of the covenants and agreements hereinafter contained to be performed by the party of the second part, does hereby covenant and agree with the said party of the second part as follows:

"I—That said party of the second part hereby agrees it will procure all necessary rights of way, and will lay and construct a sanitary sewer varying from 42-inch to 54-inch in internal diameter, between the points in the City of Los Angeles, and upon the line, as nearly as may be, described as follows:

"Beginning at an angle point in the intercepting sewer on the east side of the Los Angeles River on the easterly prolongation of Sixth Street and West of Utah Street; thence in a general northerly direction on the east side of said River across private property and in public streets to a point at the westerly end of Dayton Avenue; thence in a northwesterly direction across said River and private property and in public streets to a point on the west side of said River on the northerly prolongation of Worthen Avenue; thence in a northerly direction across said River to a point at the southerly end of Garden Avenue produced; thence in a general northwesterly direction along public streets to a point at the intersection of Garden Avenue and Rigali Avenue; thence in a northwesterly direction across private property to a point in Aviation Drive on the east side of said River, which point is opposite the intersection of San Fernando Road and Sycamore Avenue in the City of Glendale, all of which description being in accord with the location shown on Plan No. 29112.

"II—That said party of the first part agrees that it will permit said party of the second part to connect its sewer system to said sewer so to be constructed and to discharge therein the sewage of said party of the second part arising within the territory now lying within the present boundary lines of said party of the second part, City of Glendale, and to continue such connection with said sewer so to be constructed until the full capacity of said sewer has been reached by sewage from all sources to be discharged into said sewer under the terms of this agreement.

"III—That when said sewer so to be constructed shall be completed the same shall be connected with the Outfall Sewer of said party of the first part, leading to the Ocean and then in operation, and that eventually, and as soon as possible, the said sewer so to be constructed hereunder shall be connected with the North Outfall Sewer of said party of the first part now being constructed from funds of the recent $12,000,000 bond issue of said party of the first part."

The sanitary sewer described in Article I and to be built by Glendale, is one unit of a line designed to serve ultimately the entire San Fernando Valley. The cost of this unit bears approximately the same relation to the cost of the entire line to the Ocean as the ultimate population of Glendale bears to the probable future population of the entire San Fernando Valley. For this reason it is thought that the agreement represents a fair and equitable arrangement not only for Los Angeles, but for Glendale and the rest of the valley as well.

The lower end of the line is to discharge into the present sewers of Los Angeles at Sixth and Utah streets, and is to be connected as soon as possible to the Los Angeles Outfall Sewer leading to the Ocean, as provided in Article III. This outfall is now under construction.

The route of the sewer as described in Article I, has been carefully surveyed by the City Engineering Department of Los Angeles and by the Burns & McDonnell Engineering Company. The sizes specified have been checked and found to be adequate for a period of thirty years or more, depending upon the rapidity with which the tributary territory develops.

A connection once made to the sewer can never be removed by the terms of the agreement. Neither is there any limitation upon the amount of sewage contributed by Glendale until the outfall line reaches its capacity. Inasmuch as Glendale is already an established community, near Los Angeles, and growing faster than any other community in the valley, there is hardly any doubt but what it will have reached its ultimate development long before any of the other valley cities, and thereby will have had the advantage of the maximum use of the capacity of the outfall sewer.

SUNLAND

TRANSFER TITLE OF CHURCH SITE

Pastor to Launch Plans for Congregation's Home in Near Future

Transfer of the title to the lot on which the new Sunland Baptist church will be built has been completed and the pastor, Rev. W. E. Smith, expects work to begin soon in providing a new home for his congregation.

Of the estimated cost of $10,000 there is now available $3300. This amount was realized from the sale of the old church property opposite Monte Vista park. The Baptist convention has prepared plans for the building and will help to finance the building of it. Volunteer subscriptions have been offered with no solicitation as yet on the part of the church.

Monte Vista Lodge, formerly conducted by the council of Community Service of Los Angeles as a home for undernourished children, will be opened in about two weeks by the new operators, the Volunteers of America, as a home for the aged. The lodge was built and originally promoted as a hotel in the early days of Sunland.

Hermost Vista, the new subdivision near the Monte Vista lodge, sold several lots before the sale was formerly opened.

COOLIDGE HEARS IT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge was formally notified late yesterday by a joint committee of the senate and house, that congress was in session and ready for business. The president informed the committee that he would appear with his annual message.

BURBANK

BOOM IS HEADED TOWARD BURBANK

West Suburb Enjoying Wave Of Prosperity, Claims Oil Station Man

It is believed that West Burbank is about headed for a boom. J. S. King, independent oil station proprietor, who expresses this opinion after careful observation of the Empire china factory district, is quick to add that by boom he does not mean that connotation of the word expressive of the loud noise made by firing a big gun loaded with hot air.

That kind of a boom is "persona non grata" in West Burbank, as elsewhere in the city, he states. The kind of a boom Mr. King means is the one where large numbers of people suddenly discover decided advantages connected with a certain section of terra firma, and forthwith flock there.

That this section will in the years immediately ahead, be a hub for a number of important boulevards is pointed out by Mr. King. Vanowen boulevard is to join San Fernando boulevard at this point, while there is a plan on foot to parallel San Fernando boulevard as it now exists with a similar artery on the other side of the Southern Pacific tracks, and other similar projects are contemplated, he says.

All in all, it appears to Mr. King that West Burbank is a good place to bank on, so to speak. That this is also the conclusion of hundreds of other people, is evident to anyone journeying out this way.

New Shock Absorber

M. E. Bailey of 225 West Fifth street, has invnted a shock absorber for automobiles, which promises to take the jiggle out of motoring. The instrument, known as "Bailey's Hub Power Cushion," is to be manufactured in Burbank, Mr. Bailey states.

A number have been turned out at the Moreland truck factory, where he is employed, and are said to have proved entirely satisfactory, being adaptable to pleasure vehicles and trucks alike, as well as tractors and stationary engines.

The principle of the invention consists of a hub cushion, according to Mr. Bailey, this absorbing shocks and jars before they reach the engine, thus allowing more smoothness and a freedom from vibration that accomplishes practically the effect of a governor.

Small Fire Menaces

Rubbish burned at the rear of the J. C. Penney store in the Sence building last Saturday morning, developed alarming proportions and brought the fire department to the scene.

A garden hose extinguished the blaze, however, before the firemen arrived. But for prompt action, it is said that a serious fire might have resulted.

RAID NETS LARGE NARCOTIC STOCK

Opium and Equipment Worth $20,000 Seized by Police in Seattle Club

SEATTLE, Dec. 6.—Opium and smoking paraphernalia valued at $20,000 was seized here last night by combined federal narcotics forces, police and representatives of the sheriff's office in one of the most spectacular narcotic raids in the history of Seattle.

Leaping from a third story window across an alley to a fire escape, the six raiders entered an upstairs social club which had been made impregnable from the floor below. Nearly 100 Chinese were found within. Of these the raiders arrested nine, alleged to have been caught in the act of smoking opium. Approximately ten pounds of opium and yen shee was found beneath the floor of the den.

HUNT ESCAPED CONVICTS

WEAVERVILLE, Cal., Dec. 6.—A posse of twenty men is scouring the hills near town in an effort to capture J. G. Barnett and Thomas Michaeu, escaped convicts, who held up Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackman between here and Junction City, Tuesday afternoon. They took Jackman's car and after shaking hands with Jackman on leaving, promised "We'll take good care of the car."

The convicts abandoned the car just before reaching Weaverville and took to the hills. Micheau is an Alaskan Indian, sent up from Sacramento. Barrett is from Los Angeles county. They escaped Sunday from highway camps below Junction City.

It is when the tempest has reached its height that calm begins.

EAGLE ROCK

TO HOLD BAZAAR FOR HONOR FUND

Memory of Departed Leader To Be Perpetuated By College Alumnae

A Christmas bazaar will be one of the first events planned by alumnae of Occidental college to establish a scholarship fund in memory of Mrs. William Mead Orr, whose recent death was keenly felt in college circles.

The bazaar will be held on the campus Saturday, December 8, and the Glendale contingent of Occidental girl graduates will have charge of an apron booth, Miss Florence Heacock of 709 East Windsor Road, Glendale, being chairman of their group.

William Mead Orr is one of the most efficient members of the Board of Trustees of Occidental college and as a fitting memorial to his wife, who took a deep interest in the welfare of the girls of the school, he is presenting the school with a women's dormitory.

New Year's Dance

The women of the Twentieth Century club are planning that New Year's eve at their clubhouse on East Colorado boulevard will be the gala event of the year. A five-piece orchestra has been engaged, reports Mrs. G. Reily, president, and there will be a fine turkey dinner to precede the dancing.

Reservations are now being made, Mrs. Reily states, and adds that it is advisable to secure them early as a record attendance is anticipated.

Elect New Officers

Primrose lodge, No. 235, of the Order of the Daughters of St. George, at their recent annual election of officers, held at the Odd Fellows' temple, Pasadena, elected a number fo Eagle Rock women to office, among them Mrs. Teresa Keesey of West Palm avenue, who directed the production "The Beantown Choir," put on by the lodge two weeks ago.

The full list of officers elected to the Primrose lodge follows:

Past President, Margaret Vigars, Alhambra.
Worthy President, Genevieve Harley, Pasadena.
Vice-president, Flora Crane, Lamanda Park.
Recording Secretary, Isabel Graham, Pasadena.
Financial Secretary, Flora Paulson, Pasadena.
Treasurer, Annie B. Broadhead, Pasadena.
Chaplain, Annie Farrar, Pasadena.
Trustee, Amy Vigars, Alhambra.
First Conductor, Bertha Forrest, Pasadena.
Second Conductor, Teresa Keesey, Eagle Rock.
Inside Guard, Dorothy Wilkes, Lamanda Park.
Outside Guard, Lucy Farrow, Pasadena.
Captain, Isabel Graham, Pasadena.
Pianist, Annie Howard, Eagle Rock.

The installing officers are:

Addie A. Williams, Deputy Supreme President.
Ethel Shoebridge and Annie B. Broadhead, Deputy Supreme Conductors.

The installation date is December 13th, 1923.

TUJUNGA

MAY ROUTE ROAD THROUGH CANYON

Arroyo Seco Route Arouses Protest From Tujunga Nature Lover

Big Tujunga canyon was given a boost as a route for a road connecting the mountain country back of Mt. Lowe ard Mt. Wilson through Barley and Pine flats with the San Gabriel canyon road now under construction, at the last meeting of the Regional Planning Commission, held in Los Angeles. L. H. Fisher, president, and John O'B. Bodkin, secretary of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, represented Tujunga.

Mr. Austin, nature lover, who has been connected with Switzer's camp, in the Arroyo Seco, for many years, entered a protest at the meeting to the plan to use the bed of the Arroyo Seco for such a road, on the grounds that the Arroyo canyon is so narrow that a standard road would destroy the natural beauty of the canyon. He suggested the use of Big Tujunga as the most desirable route, and those present at the meeting expressed themselves in favor of this route, endorsing Mr. Austin's protest almost unanimously.

If plans now under consideration are carried out, Sunset boulevard will be extended across Michican avenue to connect with the west end of Los Robles avenue, which would also make connection with the road into Oak Glenn and the high roads in the Verdugos back of the Gem of Tujunga tract.

Open New Territory

Crossing Michigan avenue, Sunset would jog slightly to the east and pass the Garden of the Moon pavilion and swimming pool. This would open up the territory surrounding the Moon park.

It is also proposed to widen an alley running between Monte Vista boulevard and Michigan avenue near Cedar street and name it El Capitan street in honor of the late Captain Hatch, one of Tujunga's pioneers. It is understood that the California Home Extension company will dedicate a thirty-foot strip if property owners along the north side will give twenty feet, as the county regional planning commission will not accept streets narrower than sixty feet for a business district. This street would offer desirable business frontage in the older business district.

A public camp ground for motorists is also being agitated for Tujunga. A plot of an acre and a half fronting on Michigan avenue, near Los Robles and Hillhaven road, with several trees on it, has been spoken of as a desirable location, as it is near the centrally located stores. If cooking ovens and other camp necessities were installed, this would offer a desirable camp ground for the motoring public.

Get Fire Equipment

Shovels, water cans and other fire fighting equipment have been secured by Deputy Fire Warden James Blaine to replace the articles mentioned that nave disappeared during recent skirmishes with brush fires. A tool box to contain the fire fighting equipment will be furnished by the Johnson-Anawalt Lumber Company, The Tujunga Manufacturing Company and the Tujunga Paint and Paper Company. The box will be located at the fire warden's office where it will be accessible day or night. Myers Brothers hardware store recently donated a number of shovels for use at a fire, but most of these have disappeared, according to Blaine.

J. G. Baughman has purchased the Tujunga Lumber and Supply Company from Mr. Sweet, who is interested in a lumber yard at Roscoe.

M. F. Garland is building a modern bungalow court north of Monte Vista boulevard near Haines Canyon road. Four buildings are now under construction and five more are planned for the future. The houses are built on one plan and contain living room, bedroom, kitchen and bath, with clothes closets, cooler and washroom with place for stove and stationery tubs. Double garages will serve each two bungalows.

OXY COLLEGE TO ENTERTAIN CLUB

Cosmopolitan Groups of Many Southland Universities Will Be Guests

Occidental college is host tonight to the members of the Cosmopolitan Club of Southern California at their annual banquet. The huge banquet will be held in the College Commons.

Representatives from Pomona college, University of Southern California, Whittier college, University of California Southern Branch, University of Redlands, Calteck, California Christian college and Occidental will gather around the tables for the purpose of furthering the friendship of the various Cosmopolitan clubs.

Edward Jones, president of the Occidental chapter, is in charge of the arrangements and has been working hard to make this gathering a great success. President R. D. Bird will be the toastmaster, Dr. Brooks of Pomona college will be the principal speaker of the occasion.

Many of the leading business and educational men of the south have been invited to attend and plans are being made to take care of four hundred guests. U. S. C. and Pomona are each to be represented by fifty members, while Southern Branch expects to send twenty-five. Redlands, Whittier, Calteck and the Christian college will bring twenty each. Every member of the Occidental Cosmopolitan club, which numbers close to seventy-five, is expected to be there.

Each college or university will present either a musical number or a short talk. The banquet will begin promptly at 6:30 this evening.

Pilot of Mail Plane Is Injured in Crash

CLEVELAND, Dec. 6.—A Cleveland-Chicago mail plane, in chargé of Pilot H. C. Brown, crashed to the ground in flames at Castalia, Ohio, and was totally destroyed with its contents this afternoon, a report received by the air mail service here said. Brown, seriously injured, was taken to a hospital at Sandusky.

Huge Gain Shown in Postoffice Receipts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Postal receipts during November in fifty important cities were $26,530,823, an increase of $1,718,418, or 6.93 per cent over those of November, 1922, the postoffice department announced today. The largest gain was made by Los Angeles, the increase amounting to 22.75 per cent.

MONTROSE

AWARD CONTRACT TO PETER FERRY

Street Paving Job Will Run From Montrose Avenue to Sparr Heights

Montrose avenue will be paved on the west side from Honolulu avenue south to the paving in the Sparr Heights tract. The contract has been let to Peter L. Perry of Glendale, who has done paving for the streets in Sparr Heights. S. A. Myers, owner of the Montrose State Bank building, the Johnson-Anawalt Lumber company and the Glendale-Montrose railway company are defraying the expense of this work, with the hone that the increasing traffic congestion at the corner of Verdugo road and Honolulu avenue will be relieved by this additional outlet for southbound traffic.

The new Methodist church of Montrose is to be dedicated next Sunday, December 9, when the congregation expects to use for the first time the temporary building being erected on lots at Mira Vista and Montrose avenues. Later it is planned to erect a church to cost $20,0000 on the same property. The temporary building is 38 by 50 feet.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Clara Kimball Young is seen at the Glendale Theatre today and tomorrow in "A Wife's Romance," a Harry Garson production distributed by Metro, adapted from the H. W. Roberts novel, "La Rubia," and directed by Thomas Heffron.

The role is that of an American woman of highly keyed temperament, denied the love for which her whole being hungers. Finally she finds a deal of excitement if not real love, in the romantic personality of Ramon, delightful bandit of old Spain. From that point on a gripping tale unfolds, full of color and fire.

In addition, "The Lullaby," a preview of Jane Novak's latest seven-part feature, is offered tonight at the Glendale Theatre, a Chester Bennett production with Fred Malatesta, Otis Harlan and Robert Anderson. The entire company will be present.

SEEK BANK ROBBERS

DAYTON, Ohio, Dec. 6.—Police are hot on the trail of two armed bandits, who held up a branch of the City National bank here, and escaped with approximately $8,000. On entering the bank, one of the bandits immediately started shooting while his companion scooped up all the money within sight.

THE GATEWAY

In "Six Days," the new Goldwyn photoplay now showing at the Gateway Theatre, Elinor Glyn, sensational author of "Three Weeks," tells one of her most original and fascinating stories.

It has bold drama, swift action, ardent love, clever characterization, in short, everything necessary to make a finished photoplay such as large numbers of the public like. Directed by Charles Brabin, one of the ablest megaphone-swingers in filmdom, the man responsible for "Driven," the picture is a complete artistic as well as popular success.

"Six Days" tells of a mother's attempt to marry her daughter to a man of wealth, and of the girl's love affair with the man's son. Corinne Griffith, one of the popular and charming stars of the day, is seen in the role of Laline Kingston, supported by a cast including Myrtle Stedman, Claude King, Maude George and Charles Clary.

ROB STORE COLLECTOR

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Three gunmen in a motor car crowded another automobile against a curb here yesterday, and robbed its occupant, Joseph Quinn, a department store collector, of $2,200. Astonished passers-by stood transfixed while the three sped safely away.

ARRESTED WHILE SEEKING EX-WIFE

Man Searches for Brother and Woman; Police Hold Him on Charges

A divorce case which occupied the attention of Judge Sommerfield in the superior court last June again came to the fore in Glendale this morning, when Thomas Walter Barrier, 1602 Santee Drive, Los Angeles, was arrested by Officer W. M. Schilling of the local police force. He is held at headquarters jail charged with disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. He was taken into custody at 1300 South Brand boulevard, the complaint being sworn to by Mrs. Lenore Baker, 1136 East Green street.

The marital bark of the Barriers, who were wedded June 27, 1912, was wrecked May 15, 1923, and later Thomas Barrier filed a suit for divorce against his wife, naming his brother, George C. Barrier, as co-respondent, and asking for $25,000 for alienation of his wife's affections.

Decree Granted, Claim

According to Barrier's story at police headquarters the preliminary decree was granted, and the brother, George, was ordered by Judge Sommerfield to remain away from his brother's wife, who was given custody of the child. Thomas left for Salt Lake and San Francisco, returning last Monday. He claims that, upon investigation he ascertained that the brother and his wife, who has obtained no final decree, were living in the same house at 606-B Palmer avenue, as brother and sister.

Yesterday, evidently hearing that the third member of the triangle was back in town, they left the addreess on Palmer avenue, Mrs. Barrier being carried out to the car, as she has been very ill lately.

Police Find Gun

Barrier was unable to find out where the couple had gone, and this morning went to the place on Brand boulevard where, he states, his wife formerly worked, asking for information as to her whereabouts.

Upon being denied this, it is charged he created a disturbance. Upon searching his car, the police found a gun. Barrier claims that he carried it only as protection against his brother, George, who, he states, has threatened his life several times. His bail was fixed at $100 on each count, which he has not been able to furnish this afternoon.

NEAR DEATH IN AUTO COLLISION

Driver Escapes Unscathed as Car Is Overturned and Wrecked in Crash

Roy Diem, 409 North Howard street, had a miraculous escape from death or serious injury this morning shortly after 10 o'clock, when the car he was driving collided with another machine being driven by L. V. Gibbs, 509 Griswold street.

Diem, going west on Lexington drive, and Gibbs, who was headed south on Maryland avenue, crashed at the intersection of these two roads. The impact turned Diem's car completely over, throwing it against the curb on the west side of Maryland. He was not able to extricate himself from the car before it overturned, and struck the pavement underneath it. The top of the car was completely smashed, the windshield broken and the sttering wheel damaged. It laid upside down with the wheels running for some time.

Diem was not even scratched, and was able to crawl out of the wreck none the worse for the collision. The other car was not injured to any great extent.

VETERANS' LODGE ELECTS OFFICERS

L. D. Pike Chosen Commander of Local Spanish War Camp No. 67

The Spanish War Veterans, camp No. 67, of which Dr. W. C. Mabry is commander, held one of the most successful meetings of the year last night at K. P. hall, corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard.

Important business and election of officers occupied the evening.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: L. D. Pike, commander; C. M. Young, senior vice commander; Frank E. Peters, junior vice commander; A. E. Merrihew, officer of the day; C. B. Hall, officer of the guard; C. C. Sherrod and Dr. Wm. C. Mabry, trustees for three years.

A new member, Captain Geo. L. Rollins, was initiated.

A social hour followed, during which the Spanish War Veterans' Auxiliary No. 36 served coffee and sandwiches.

The auxiliary invited the camp to be their guest at the next meeting, December 19, to enjoy a Christmas party.

A Christmas fund was raised for the disabled veterans at Sawtelle.

HEWITT CHEERED BY ROTARY CLUB

Asks Members to Aid Sewer Bond Project in Every Manner Possible

Members of the Glendale Rotary club tendered a rousing reception to W. E. Hewitt, newly elected president of the Chamber of Commerce, at their weekly luncheon in the Egyptian Village at noon today, and W. A. Howe, manager of the Glendale theatre, placed a large bunch of carnations at Mr. Hewitt's seat at the table. Geo. B. Karr, vice president, and A. R. Eastman, treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, also came in for sincere congratulations on their election.

Mr. Hewitt pledged the Chamber of Commerce to work for the passage of the sewer bonds, and asked the Rotary club to stand behind the proposed project in the coming election, the members heartily endorsing the sewer bonds.

The advantages of remaining unannexed to Los Angeles were explained by Ike Speers of Santa Monica, one of the Rotary visitors at the luncheon. Other Santa Monicans were Ted D. Plumer, Gene Kallgren and Ernest L. English, the president of the Santa Monica Rotary club; and Harry Gunnall, Brainerd, Minn.; Sam Hall, secretary of the Los Angeles Rotary club, and Arthur M. Loomis, another Los Angeles Rotarian, were present.

The program for the day was an impromptu one that furnished a lot of entertainment for the club members.

BUILDING TOTALS REVEAL ACTIVITY

Number of Moderate Sized Permits Boosts Total Up to $9,373,477

A total of $151,318 in building permits was issued during the first five days of December. As there is no large single permit included in this total, it shows that building activity is equal, if not greater, than it was in the preceding month, when a new record was established for Glendale.

The yearly total is $9,373,477, and is steadily advancing toward the $10,000,000 goal.

The following permits were issued yesterday:

John H. Murphy, 6 3-room bungalow courts, 119 East Acacia	$7,380
Charles B. Egbers, 6 rooms and garage, 1246 North Everett	6,000
Hackensmith Engineering & Construction Company, 5 rooms and garage, 825 Portola	5,150
Knox and Knox, 6 rooms and garage, 500 Griswold	5,000
Johnson, Boyce and Johnson, 5 rooms and garage, Los Palmos	5,000

British, French Seize China Customs House

LONDON, Dec. 6.—British and French marines have taken over the Canton, China, customs house, due to threats made by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, commander of the southern republican forces in China, said a Central News dispatch from Hong Kong today.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder Is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poison from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Reveal Death Hoax in Arrest of Man

they were only motivated by a desire to get away.

Sailstad calmly smoked a cigar in his jail cell here today, while the authorities claimed to hold his complete confession to having burned his summer cottage at Lake Nabagamon, near Superior, Wis., exhumed the body of Andrew McPhee from a nearby cemetery and after dragging McPhee's bones into the ashes, disappeared, leaving his wife, now Mrs. Leona Sailstad Richardson, to collect heavy life insurance policies.

Heavily in Debt

According to the story which District Attorney Thomas Anglin said today Sailstad had told him, the former Wisconsin business man was heavily in debt and carefully planned the death hoax. Hearing that McPhee, a friend, had died, he rented a cottage near the cemetery where McPhee's body was buried, burned his home, exhumed the body and placed his ring and watch on the corpse, which he threw into the flames.

Sailstad, according to word received from Superior, Wis., by authorities here, figured in one of the most sensational lawsuits in the annals of the northwest. After he disappeared in August, 1920, following the burning of his cottage, his wife, supposedly his widow, sued insurance companies for a sum totalling close to $100,000 and was awarded a verdict by a jury. Final payment has not been made, it was said, although some of the companies have made partial settlements. Napa authorities were informed today.

Runs Away with Girl

Sailstad finally admitted today that he had fled from Wisconsin with Miss Anderson. He said that she had stood nearby when he exhumed McPhee's body and that she knew his plot in advance.

In his confession to the district attorney here the former Wisconsin business man gave all the details of the death hoax. He described how he took the body of his friend, McPhee, to the site of the burning cottage and how he ripped open the canvas around the corpse, throwing his ring and other jewelry on top of McPhee's bones and running from the place in terror.

Leaving the cottage, Sailstad said he walked to Superior, Wis., and took a train for Chicago, where he remained a short time before coming west.

Called His Double

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Dec. 6.—"The man arrested with Dorothy Anderson in California is NOT Mr. Sailstad," today said Mrs. Leona Parkhill Sailstad Richardson, widow of the "dead" man reported found in the west. "The man is Mr. Sailstad's double," she added, "concerning whom one of our witnesses testified in our recent suit to collect Mr. Sailstad's insurance."

To Bring Suspect

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 6.—Deputies bearing warrants charging arson were ordered today to go before nightfall to California to bring back the man arrested there as Edward J. Sailstad, who was declared officially dead by a federal court jury here a year ago.

District Attorney Robert E. Kennedy said he was given to understand that the prisoner would not oppose extradition.

Not Guilty, Is Claim

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—Details of his movements and whereabouts during the past year to prove that he could not have been responsible for the murder of his wife, were given investigators here today by Elgin Pittman, held in the county jail charged with having murdered his wife, whose body was found floating in the Columbia river near Wallula, Wash., last June.

At the same time, Mrs. Edna Rogers Pittman, who contends she is the wife of Pittman, and apparently the woman believed to have been found dead, endeavored to reach her parents at Richland, Ore., by telephone and telegraph in order to prove her identity.

Officers working on the case declare the woman found dead in the Columbia river and buried as Mrs. Pittman, was 25 years old and was identified by her parents by dental work.

MORE FOR 'GEORGE'

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Asserting its opinion that the prevailing wage schedule for Pullman car conductors is unjust and unreasonable, the United States railway board has recommended that conductors of the Pullman company be granted an increase of approximately $10 a month and that the new scale be made retroactive to December 1, last.

NATION'S LEADER TELLS POLICIES

Reduction of Taxes Is Big Question Before Congress, Asserts Coolidge

consolidations. Should this permissive consolidation prove ineffective after a limited period, the authority of the government will have to be directly invoked.

Needed at Once

"Competent authorities agree that an entire re-organization of the rate structure for freights is necessary. This should be ordered at once by congress."

These were the principal recommendations the new president had for the new congress—now getting under way in the face of an approaching presidential campaign in a state of turbulence, confusion and threatened disorganization.

It was a Republican congress that Mr. Coolidge appealed to today, but Republican in name only. The same little group of western insurgents that blocked organization at the opening can, because of the closeness in numbers between Republicans and Democrats, make or break the Coolidge program.

That the president's views as outlined today constitute the Coolidge platform for 1924, there can be little doubt. They were so interpreted by politicians of every shade of opinion in the capital and no time was lost in placing his recommendations under the political microscopes of a dozen potential candidates for the presidency.

Mr. Coolidge's message was unique among presidential papers because of its terseness, its bluntness and its general crispness. His sentences were short and clear; his paragraphs likewise.

He did not go into a detailed discussion of any issue, but contented himself with giving congress and the country his ideas in words of one syllable and sentences of ten words. He divided his message into sections on the different topics and no section contained more than five hundred words.

All In One Sentence

The acme of Coolidge-ian brevity was reached in one section dealing with the diplomatic and consular service of the United States:

"The foreign service of our government needs to be reorganized and improved."

That was all. No details. No explanation; merely the statement of his belief.

His opposition to a soldiers' bonus was stated in ten words. After declaring everything possible should be done for the disabled veterans, Mr. Coolidge simply said:

"But I do not favor the granting of a bonus."

In every particular, the new president in his first state paper of importance, lived up to his reputation for brevity, terseness and lack of loquacity, which drew for him as vice-president the popular nickname of "Silent Cal."

The president's message was delivered before what was probably one of the greatest and most glittering assemblages that ever heard an executive communication.

Big Crowd Present

The public galleries in the chamber were closed two hours before the time of the president's appearance, the lucky seat holders coming early and taking no chances on missing the show.

The diplomatic and the executive boxes were likewise jammed early.

In the president's box were Mrs. Coolidge, accompanied by the "ladies of the cabinet." Mrs. Hughes, wife of the secretary of state, sat on her right and next came Mrs. New, Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Work. Mrs. Coolidge looked charming in a long brown coat, trimmed in dark brown fur, and a hat of deep orange.

Mrs. Coolidge was given a round of applause when she came into the box shortly before 12 o'clock.

Other occupants of the president's box were Colonel George Harvey and R. B. Creager of Texas, who probably will be the next ambassador to Mexico.

Across the chamber from Mrs. Coolidge sat Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, a brilliant spot of color in an orange dress of unusual design.

There was more scattered handclapping at 12:10 when the cabinet members filed slowly in and took seats near the rostrum.

"No Business There"

During the waiting for the president, Representative Clark, Democrat of Florida, enlivened the proceedings by arising on the floor and protesting that there were a lot of people on the floor who had no business there, while "wives of members holding tickets are helpless" in the crush outside.

He moved that the house floor be cleared of all persons not entitled to seats. The ayes and noes were called for and the ayes won. Sergeant-at-arms began an almost hopeless task of trying to obey the mandate. The outsiders were mostly clerks and secretaries to members, who by long custom, have occupied the outer space in the chamber.

At 12:25 the senate filed in with frock coats and solemn mien.

A joint committee was appointed to escort Mr. Coolidge to the chamber, consisting of Senators Lodge of Massachusetts; Robinson of Arkansas; Warren of Wyoming; Smoot of Utah, and Overman of North Carolina, and Representatives Longworth of Ohio; Garrett of Tennessee; Madden of Illinois; Gardner of Texas, and Green of Iowa.

There was a roar of applause when Mr. Coolidge entered the chamber promptly at 12:30 p. m. Floor and galleries rose and clapped for several minutes, the Republicans leading it en masse and the Democrats following with less solid manifestation.

The Glendale Evening News prints President Coolidge's message to congress in full in this edition. It will be found on page 5, section 2.

COMMENT
That's All

Insurgents Can Do Good.
Hiram Johnson Organizing.
Farmer Needs More Aid.
Register to Vote for Bonds.

By Gil A. Cowan

If Congress proceeds with the relative peace and equanimity which have marked the first days of the present session, the results of the pleasant little political palavering on the shores of the Potomac will result in little benefit for the nation at large.

With the control of the house in the hands of a progressive element—or is it simply insurgent—the legislation resulting will no doubt be renounced by both Republicans and Democrats in the coming campaign in the words of the melodramatic phraseology.

"Take it away—it is not my che-ild."

And no doubt the upset of the recent elections with an insurgent majority wielding a whip hand will have its effect on the Republicans in their consideration of a candidate.

Hiram Johnson, California's senior senator, is organizing a tremendously effective national machine to promote his interests and there seems to be no doubt but what he is the most logical opponent of the present president within the party ranks.

However, it may be truthfully said by observers that Calvin Coolidge, with a patronage list at his command, will be able to muster considerable steam roller machinery together in time for the final tussle. That advantage, plus sentiment, which is bound to be evidenced by the old guard, will perhaps offer him the opportunity of facing the Democratic nonimee.

We honestly believe the Republicans can elect Hiram Johnson to the presidency. On the events of the next ninety days depends the success of the Coolidge campaign. We, therefore, must watch with expectancy to note his ability as a general in turning the tide of opinion away from the apparent desire of the people for a change in the performance.

There seems to be no question but what our moot prosperity in America is being maintained at the expense of the farmer. The working classes of the city never before were quite so well off. The financial world, while quaking at the sight of the farm failures, is profiting therefrom.

Indeed, the agrarian has been hard pressed and only a complete renaissance of the government's duty toward the tiller of the soil will bring order out of the political chaos which is piling up for 1924.

City dwellers in Glendale and metropolitan Los Angeles do not know, unless they have have relatives "down on the farm" just exactly what the situation is. Labor is high, loans are scarce and profits are small compared with those in mercantile lines. Prices, however, are getting better and another year will see marked improvement in rural conditions.

But from a political standpoint that will be six months too late. Concessions will have to be made by this congress to satisfy the farmer that he is going to get a show for his money.

This is not idle talk. Neither is it propaganda. It is the thought of the man in the Imperial Valley, the man in the San Joaquin Valley of California; the man in Idaho, the man in Minnesota, as well as the man way down in Georgia, who is eking out an existence in the most prosperous land the sun has ever shone upon.

Glendale will do well, from an economic standpoint, to put its sewer bond issue over 100 per cent strong. This expenditure of money, as well as the necessary building program, will aid Southern California's prosperity.

If you have not registered there still is time to do so before the night of December 8. The Glendale Evening News is heart and soul behind the sewer bond issue. It recognizes the fact that the sanitary needs of this city must be met NOW.

"Start the New Year right—Vote the Sewer Bonds."

Fire Funds Given to Families of Victims

Checks were forwarded yesterday by Mayor Spencer Robinson, on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce Fire Relief Fund committee, to Mrs. A. W. McGahan and Mrs. Johanna Edwards, for $2284.10 and $2259.10, respectively.

Mrs. Edwards' son and Mrs. McGahan's husband lost their lives while defending Eagle Rock and Glendale from flames raging in the San Rafael hills, October 13.

This disposes of the amount raised by the benefit performance of November 7 for the fire victims. Mrs. McGahan received $25 more than Mrs. Edwards through the stipulation of one of the private contributors.

Local Squad Ready to Meet Long Beach

at the meeting tonight, when it is hoped that as many as are able to do so, will attend.

Many of the merchants of the city have suggested to Principal George U. Moyse that the stores be closed for the afternoon, to enable every one to witness the game.

One even went so far as to suggest a parade prior to the game, but this plan was given up as impracticable.

Rooters' Special Features

A number of special features, which have heretofore been incidents to college games, will be put on the Glendale rooting section, under the direction of Archie Neal, yell leader, and his assistants. They refuse to divulge the nature of these, but that they will follow some of the famous Trojan stunts, is certain.

The high school band, especially augmented by other musicians, will be on hand to furnish music and co-operate in the stunts.

Squads in Good Shape

Reports from both camps today are that each squad is in good shape. Drury, the star 190 pound full back of the Jackrabbits was out practicing yesterday, and it is believed Coach Schuettner plans to start him in the game.

Captain West is in better shape than he has been for six weeks, and will probably start for the first time in a post-season game. He is by far the best man on the squad to instill a fighting spirit, and his absence has been sorely felt for that reason. He is also one of the best line plungers in the south, and the prospects of success for Coach Hayhurst's men are considerably brightened by his return to form.

Lavelle to Start

Lavelle, lanky end, will be able to start, as his hip will be fully recovered by Saturday. While both Denny and Bradner acquitted themselves well in the game with Santa Monica, they lack the poiish of the first string man, and his presence gives a feeling of confidence to the entire squad.

After arrangements had been made, it was found necessary to increase the price of admission to $1, owing to the cost of obtaining the coliseum. This advance was made over the strenuous protest of the local officials, who have endeavored to keep down the price of admission to the post-season games.

Owing to the fact that there are two titles at stake, and that the flyweights will draw their share of the crowd, the Coliseum management thought that the price of $1 would be fair to all.

Miss Ruth Ryan has been appointed chairman of the refreshment committee.

Everything is in readiness for the dance and a jolly good time is assured for all. All members are asked to secure admittance and guest cards from the Community Service headquarters before this evening in order to avoid confusion at the door.

SHOOTING MARKS IRISH ELECTION

Communists Plot Daring Raid on Polling Booths, Is London Report

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The first serious disorder in the British general election today was reported from Belfast where Daniel Bradley was shot during a fight. In most places polling has proceeded quietly up to this afternoon.

Favorable weather indicated that a heavy vote would be cast, especially on the part of Great Britain's seven million enfranchised women.

According to the Daily Mail, communists organized a plot to upset the election ballot boxes, cutting off the lights in voting places and slashing the tires of motor cars carrying anti-communist voters to the polls.

Mrs. W. E. Evans Gets Biennial Board Post

Another good reason for the active interest of the Tuesday Afternoon club in the biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs next June, in Los Angeles, is the appointment of Mrs. W. E. Evans of 333 North Orange street, as a member of the local biennial board's credential committee.

Mrs. Evans is federation secretary of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Only last week Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of the Tuesday Afternoon club was appointed as chairman of information on the local biennial board.

COMPETITION IS GROWING KEENER

Second Period of Campaign Will Close Saturday; Final Spurt Counts

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

With the announcement of the standing of the club members being printed in The Glendale Evening News every day during the present week, it has caused many to awaken to the fact that they stand a good chance to win one of the grand capital prizes and many are putting forth greater efforts than ever before.

It is a known fact that there are eight or more club members who are right in line for one of the grand capital prizes if they but put forth a great effort during the remaining time that the campaign has to run. This is no idle boast, but it's a sure fact, and those who do the best work from now on will stand the best chance of winning the best prizes. A few clubs of subscriptions right at this time would certainly make a lot of difference in the standing of some of the club members, and if they would really work and show their friends that they are in the race, determined to win, and go after the subscriptions strong, they would receive a lot of help that will otherwise be given to some club member.

Second Period Closes

The second period of the campaign will close Saturday night, and it is up to you to get every single subscription possible, for after this Saturday night the credits take another drop and every one you fail to get means that you will have to work that much harder to catch up with the leaders during the final period.

Next Monday the ballot box will be placed in one of the local banks, where it will remain until the final day of the campaign. The gentlemen who have so kindly consented to act as judges will seal and lock the ballot box and retain the keys—in fact, they will take entire charge of the campaign after Saturday night.

If you are willing to be contented with one of the small prizes that are being offered don't work any harder than you have done during the past few weeks, but if you have any ambition whatsoever to win one of the grand capital prizes you had better hurry, for every day that passes means that much time lost, and if you are among those who are close to the top of the list you cannot afford to let a single minute slip by without putting forth the big effort necessary to get the subscription and the credits.

The matter rests with you as

Alpha Sorority Plan Banquet for Tigers

The active chapter of the Alpha Sorority of Occidental college will give their annual football banquet for the Tiger varsity eleven next Wednesday evening, December 12, at the Alpha house. The entire squad of some twenty-five players will feast at tables elaborately decorated in orange and black colors.

It is one of the traditions of the institution for the girls of this society to have a football banquet. Later in the year the girls of the Gamma sorority will banquet the track team.

Coach Timberwolf Pipal and President R. D. Bird will be the honored guests. Captain Tony Spangler will preside as toastmaster. The college orchestra will furnish the music. Election of the football captain for the 1924 season will be a feature of the evening.

First Wedding in New Church Is Performed

The first marriage ceremony to be performed within the walls of the new building of the Glendale Presbyterian church on East Harvard and Louise streets, took place yesterday morning, December 5, 1923, when Miss Janet Dewar became the bride of James C. Frazier. Rev. W. E. Edmonds officiated.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dewar, 227 West Elk avenue.

After a three weeks' motor trip north, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier will return to make their home in Glendale.

Hold Entertainment to Assist Athletics

An entertainment is being staged this afternoon and tonight (Thursday), at Wilson avenue school for the benefit of the school athletic association. The program is being put on by outside talent and the classes are having a competition in ticket selling.

Acting Principal Chas. E. Merrill is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Robert Heck, president of the athletic association.

Former South Dakota Residents to Picnic

Southern California South Dakotans are to have a big picnic reunion Saturday, December 8, at Bixby park, Long Beach.

It will be an all-day affair with basket dinners, hot coffee, county registers and a short program.

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT CHILDREN

Those Who Fail to Give Him Street Address May Be Overlooked Xmas

A special message to Glendale kiddies from Santa Claus was received this morning by D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster.

Clear from his toy palace by the North Pole, jolly old St. Nick took time enough from the rush of his Christmas preparations, to write Mr. Jackson stating that he wants all Glendale children sending him letters to be sure to write their names and addresses plainly.

Children who fail to give their street addresses when writing to Santa Claus are in danger of not being visited by this busy person on Christmas, Mr. Jackson said.

Mr. Jackson is taking care of all the mail addressed to Santa Claus, and of course will see that the right party gets it, but, unless such letters, containing requests for Christmas gifts show the sender's street address, he said, it will be impossible for Santa to deliver the presents.

Instead of signing the name, for example, "Johnnie Jones," Mr. Jackson said, the name should be accompanied by the street address also, as, 4000 Brand boulevard.

By following these rules, every child may be reached by Santa Claus and given the same consideration as he does his thousands of other little charges.

Man Wins Honors In Needle Work Exhibit

Honors are pretty well divided between Glendale men and women, but special recognition for the men has been brought to light by the holiday bazaar in progress at the Congregational church on North Central and Wilson avenues, where there is a fine exhibit of needle painting in colors by E. B. Clark of Glendale.

This work was mostly done while Mr. Clark was in Panama. Mr. Clark is very clever and has competed with hundreds of women and has won prizes in several exhibitions and contests.

The display being shown at the church affair has attracted wide atention and includes about forty pieces of work.

Dinner is being served tonight and tomorrow night at the church from 5:30 till 7:30 o'clock and each night an entertainment program will be given.

Hoosier Evangelist Continues Services

The evangelistic meetings are continuing at the Church of the Bretheren on South Glendale avenue under the auspices of the local Church of the Nazarene. Sermons are being preached by Rev. John Hatfield, known as "The Hoosier" evangelist. There will be meetings each night this week, including Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Thirty to forty healthy men are attached to each large hospital and are on call by telephone, day and night, to save lives by blood transfusion.

ZOO TO RECEIVE FRESH SPECIMEN

Capture of 'Gazeka' Insures Striking Addition to City Live Stock

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

After several days of more or less innocuous inactivity, the city zoo is to receive another addition in the shape of a Gazeka, a bird that was captured on South Brand boulevard as it was fleeing from the office of a real estate dealer who had tried to confine it in a bungalow in which the plumbing is alleged to be defective, a condition that invariably alarms the Gazeka and sends it off on a still hunt for some other place where it doesn't have to be everlastingly fooling around trying to fix leaky taps.

Just What It Is

This peculiarity of the Gazeka is explained in the Young Nature Faker's Handbook, which says that the Gazeka is a one-legged bird that is deserted by its parents, who are flighty by nature, immediately after it is hatched from the egg, and its upbringing then becomes the sole aim in life of its maiden aunt, which seeks to shield it from evil influences and to bring it up along lines that will fit it to assume its proper place in the society of the leaders of the feathered world. The aunt's habit of going off on mysterious errands of long duration, however, tends to throw the young bird on its own resources for long intervals, and, as it is a bird of a morbid and introspective nature, this loneliness gradually weighs on its mind until, in a fit of despondency, it seizes an occasion when its aunt has gone around the corner for groceries, when it hastens to the nearest swamp, and uttering weird cries, it plunges headlong into the marsh, rejoining its ancestors with its nose full of soft mud.

Secures Picture

Colonel H. Thompson Rich, campaign manager for Professor Xavius Zantippe, presidential impossibility on the meal ticket, has secured a photograph of the Gazeka which he prizes highly and which he has colored in what he believes to be a replica of the bird's natural tints, and, believe us, folks, it's a bird, no matter how you look at it.

In order to frustrate the suicidal tendencies of the Gazeka, a special cement floored cage is being built for it in Patterson park, and any time this particular Gazeka tries to do its diving specialty it will jar its beak clear back to its wishbone, to say nothing of giving itself a headache.

It is hoped that the city zoo appropriation can be made to stretch over the cost of purchasing a mate for the Gazeka, but this will have to be held over until the sex of the bird is definitely determined.

School Situation to Form Topic at Meet

Glendalians interested in the school situation in the west and northwest parts of the city are urged to attend a mass meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the Central Avenue school.

O. M. Newby of 107 South Central avenue is to preside, and states that there will be discussion of the school situation as it concerns the territory between Pacific and Grand View avenue.

Store to Give Away Valuable Premiums

T. Kuranaga, proprietor of the Japan Art & Tea Store, 135 South Brand boulevard, will give away to his customers between now and Christmas a large number of valuable premiums, chief of which is a handsome Italian marble statue on which is a clock with an electrical attachment, the statue being mounted on a marble pedestal. Other premiums include articles of use and ornament, which will be awarded to the holders of tickets which will be given with each purchase of a stated amount.

GLENDALE'S POOR WELL CARED FOR

W. E. Hewitt Lauds Relief And Charitable Bodies For Achievements

"We Glendalians pride ourselves that we have no poor people," says W. E. Hewitt, president of the board of directors of the Glendale Welfare Chest organization. "We go farther than that. We support the Glendale Welfare association, as one of the fourteen charitable and relief organizations cared for under the Welfare Chest plan.

"We pride ourselves that we have no poor people within our city limits, but to Mrs. E. D. Yard should go a great deal of the praise for this condition. She is president of the Glendale Welfare association. Picture a family that arrives in Glendale from the east, on a shoestring, so to speak, as so many do.

Adversities Come

"And then picture adversities that hit that family, sickness perhaps, or unemployment. Their little reserve fund melts away. What of the children then, What of the little home they may have been buying on monthly payments?

"The Glendale Welfare bureau meets such emergencies and puts deserving families back on their feet again. Its record furnishes many fine examples of the helping hand extended in the spirit of mercy and love."

News Classified Ads Bring Quick Results

Another boost for Glendale Evening News classified advertising comes from Nettie Williams, realty broker of 1139 East Maple street, whose name appears in the classified columns of The News every day.

"On Tuesday of this week," says Mrs. Williams, "I listed the home of Mrs. C. B. Miltenberger at 1317 East Windsor road. Mrs. Miltenberger's husband was recently fatally injured in an accident on North Verdugo road, and she is planning to go east for an indefinite visit with relatives.

"She wanted a quick sale so I advertised the house in the Tuesday issue of The Glendale Evening News and Wednesday morning I sold the property and at a price satisfactory to both seller and buyer."

CLASS CONDUCTS HOLIDAY BAZAAR

Proceeds to go Into J. O. C. Fund For Giving Aid To Worthy Causes

Real Christmas cheer is to dominate the annual holiday bazaar and dinner of the J. O. C. class at the First Methodist church tomorrow afternoon and night.

Mrs. Lydia Rehberg, class president, Mrs. Pearl Bolton, teacher, and the 150 or more members of the senior class, assisted by the Junior J. O. C. class and Mrs. Nellie Wheeler, the teacher, have been planning for weeks for this big holiday event, and all is in readiness for the opening at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

All sorts of interesting attractions are planned for the various booths, where a wealth of holiday gifts will be offered. Mrs. Martha Warren is general chairman, and she is being assisted by Mrs. Kate Stahl, fancy work; Mrs. Lottie Jahns, Mrs. Helen Reynolds, aprons; Mrs. Pearl Bolton, baby booth; Mrs. Erma Nicholaus, Mrs. Augusta Woodside, fishpond; Mrs. Nell Whitney, candy; Mrs. Ethel Sayler, kitchen; Mrs. Mary Knox, Mrs. Ollie Lucas, dinner.

The Junior J. O. C. class will have a vooked cook booth, in charge of Elsie Whitney.

To Aid Children

Dinner is to be served at 6:30 o'clock, and places are being arranged for 450. Tickets for both adults and children are seventy-five cents each. These tickets can be secured at the Bott Book store, Warren's Flower shop and from any of the classmembers

Proceeds from the bazaar and dinner are to be added to the class treasury and will help in taking care of the various worthy causes the women are interested in. One of the interests is supporting a little boy and girl at the David and Margaret Orphans' home at La Verne.

CATCH LOBSTERS

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thorpe, proprietors of the Oakmont Saddle Stables, brought home a load of about 200 California lobsters yesterday that they caught off the coast between Balboa and San Juan Capistrano.

TODAY—Banana Dearth in California; Climate Is Unsuitable.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The world-wide banana dearth is no matter for levity among those in California who cherished fond hopes of producing the fruit on a commercial scale.

Take it from Prof. C. F. Elwood, an authority on sub-tropical horticulture of the University of California department of agriculture, who says that Californians with hopes of making fortunes in the banana business are doomed to disappointment.

"Any bananas that reach maturity in the state of California are freaks," the expert said, "and ought not to be considered as respectable members of the banana family. The climate of California is not hot or moist enough to raise the fruit, which requires almost tropical heat together with frequent rains."

The old query of "What's in a name?" is to be translated into "What's in a co-ed?" as a result of experiments, expected to determine why co-eds wear bright colors and whether they dress to please themselves or to please the aesthetic tastes of their male friends, now being conducted at the University of California. Does it matter whether a girl wears an orange sweater and green skirt, or should one color predominate or harmonize with the others?

These and other questions as to the color preferences of the university students are the subjects of tests being made by the psychological department of the university, under the direction of J. M. Sutherland, teaching fellow in psychology. These experiments are being undertaken in order to determine whether or not a preference for a single color holds good when this color is in combination with others or when it predominates in a picture.

Training the aesthetic tastes of students in the introductory course to psychology is among the objects of the experiment. A series of colors are shown and the students are required to arrange them in the order of their preference. Then a picture in which the preferred color dominates is shown the subject to test the validity of his judgments.

According to Sutherland, there are many individual discrepancies in the choice of colors, although there seems to be a marked preference for green, an orange red and dark brown. So far as the experiments have now gone, he said, there were no notable differences between the choices of men and women for these colors.

Digressing from the subject of colors, one learns from Prof. R. H. Lewis of the anthropology department of the university that Hopi maidens of Northern Arizona know more chic coiffures than the fair California co-eds—which is going some. Professor Lewis does not set himself up as an authority of coiffures, but has had considerable opportunity to study the examples presented by the young ladies of his classes and has come to the conclusion that the American "high steppers" could learn much from the Hopi flappers.

"Hopi girls are not content with making their hair into 'biscuits' and 'buns' like the California girls, but they go them one better by forming their hair into huge 'squash blossoms' that resemble pies more than anything else," said Professor Lewis. "They wind their hair over pieces of wire, which they remove when the hair-dressing process has been completed. These wire frames in the hair give the Hopi 'squash blossoms' a much more chic appearance than American hair puffs. There might be a fortune for some enterprising American who would introduce these Hopi 'hair trainers' into American hair-dressing establishments.

"California and Hopi maidens sport their biscuit coiffures on festive occasions when there are men about," concluded Professor Lewis, "but I suppose that this is a characteristic of all the feminine sex."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE LOLLY-POPS

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy sat in an easy chair by the fireplace in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. The muskrat lady had not moved for ever so long, except to flip flap her tail from one side of the chair to the other side.

"What is the matter, Nurse Jane?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Don't you feel well?"

"I think, perhaps, I ate a little too much Thanksgiving dinner," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Too much of the carrot shortcake, I fear."

"That's too bad," spoke the rabbit gentleman. "I'll telephone Dr. Possum and he will come and see if you need medicine."

"Oh, no! I'll be all right in a little while," said Nurse Jane. "But if you want to do me a favor I'll tell you what I would like."

"What?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I would like a peppermint lollypop," went on Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "Seems to me a bit of peppermint candy would make me feel much better than some of Dr. Possum's powders and pills."

"A peppermint lollypop you shall have," said Uncle Wiggily, "or even one flavored with rose, if you care for it."

"Peppermint will be best," said Nurse Jane.

So the rabbit gentleman hopped over the fields and through the woods to the peppermint lollypop store. On the way Uncle Wiggily met Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig.

"Good morning, Mrs. Twistytail," said Uncle Wiggily, politely, twinkling his pink nose. "And where may you be going so early in the morning?"

"I am going to get Dr. Possum to have him come and see what is the matter with Squeakie Squealer, my pig baby," answered Mrs. Twistytail. "She grunts all the while."

"Perhaps she had too much Thanksgiving dinner," said the bunny. "That is Nurse Jane's trouble and I am going to get her a peppermint lollypop. If you like I will bring one for Squekie Squealer."

"Oh, thank you! It will be most kind of you," grunted the lady pig. "I'll wait until you return before I get Dr. Possum."

So Mrs. Twistytail went back to her pen, and Uncle Wiggily kept on to the three and two cent lollypop store. There he bought three fine, large green, peppermint lollypops, each one on a stick so it could be eaten without sticking one all up.

With the three large, green peppermint lollypops in his paw Uncle Wiggily started back for his hollow stump bungalow. On the way he intended to stop at the pig house and give one lollypop to little Squeakie Squealer.

"The second lollypop I will give to Nurse Jane," said the bunny gentleman "and the third one I may eat myself; who knows?"

So the rabbit hopped along, wondering if he would have an adventure that day, when, all of a sudden, there was a loud noise in the bushes, and out popped the Woozie Wolf.

"Oh, ho; I am just in time, I see," growled the Wolf.

"Time? Time for what?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean you are in time to catch a train?"

"No, I mean I am just in time to nibble your ears," said the Wolf.

"Oh, yo uwouldn't nibble me when it's Thanksgiving time, would you?" asked the rabbit gentleman kindly.

"Indeed I would" howled the Wolf. "I must have something to be thankful for, and I'll be thankful that I can nibble your ears."

And then Uncle Wiggily thought of a trick. He had three lollypops, one for Nurse Jane, one for Squeakie Squealer and one for himself—Maybe.

"I'll take my lollypop and play a trick on the Wolf," thought the bunny. So, holding out one of the nice, large, green pepermint lollypops to the Wolf Uncle Wiggily said: "Before you nibble my ears, wouldn't you like some candy?"

"Why yes, I am very fond of candy," snarled the Wolf. "But which end of this candy do you bite on?" he asked, for he had never before seen a lollypop. "Do you bite on the big, thick, round end, or on the long, thin end?" he asked, pointing to the lollypop stick.

"Suppose you bite on the long, thin end," suggested the bunny, "and see what happens." For the bunny knew if the Wolf bit on the lollypop stick he would break his teeth, perhaps, and then couldn't nibble ears.

"All right! I'll bite the thin end," howled the Wolf. Down he bit with all his might on the lollypop stick. "Crack!" went two of his teeth, broken off short. "Oh, Me! Oh, My! Wowzie!" howled the Wolf, and holding his paw to his aching jaw away he ran, not hurting the bunny at all.

"A good trick!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he picked up the Wolf's lollypop, which, however, had no stick. "The candy part is still good to eat, and I have Nurse Jane's and the little pig's lollypops safe." And after eating the peppermint, the sick ones were soon well.

So if the rubber on the end of the pencil doesn't make the poor thing bounce on its head, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the prickly peppers.

THE DAYS OF ROMANCE

He longed for the days of forgotten romance,
When ladies were loved and when men fought and bled.
"They have passed on," he sighed, "now there isn't a chance
For adventure"; then turned to his paper and read:

Kid Dropper, famed gangster, was shot at and killed
As he entered a taxi, surrounded by cops,
By a youngster unheard of, weak pale, of slight build,
Who laughed, "Watch the Dropper, for here's where he drops."

A baby was seized on a thronged city street,
Twelve thousand policemen in vain sought a clew,
And every false scent and each crushing defeat
Merely served to start going the whole search anew.

Ku Kluxers paraded, and foes of the Klan
Gave battle, shots sounded and knife blades flashed bright;
A bullet well aimed brought death to one man,
And the Klan swears revenge and is ready to fight.

A spender of New York, who'd scattered his gold
Like dirt, found himself at the ebb of the tide,
Afraid to face poverty when he grew old,
He gave one last party, took poison and died.

He folded his paper in patent disgust
And yawned in his boredom and mournfully said:
"The brave days of romance have crumbled to dust;
Life holds no excitement; adventure is dead."

HAPPY DAYS!

Soon you must buy an overcoat;
The next month's rent is due;
You'll have to meet that little note,
And income taxes, too.

It's time to lay in winter coal;
The butcher says he'll dun;
You've practically hocked your soul;
Oh, boy! Ain't we got fun!

Recent suicide of a noted Broadway spender on the verge of poverty seems to indicate that occasionally a man about town is a man about down.

Writing of a recent experience in the United States, Sir Philip Gibbs says that "one lady struck another over the head with a fan." These Britishers certainly are tactful.

Timely Views on World Topics

"PROHIBITION WILL STAY; HANDLE IT WITH COMMON SENSE," SAYS ENRIGHT

The Eighteenth Amendment will never be repealed in "our day," but there is room for a common sense view of the prohibition enforcement situation. That is what Police Commissioner Enright of New York believes.

The Commissioner declared in a recent address that the "common sense" viewpoint would give to the States the right to declare what alcoholic content violated the Volstead law. He insisted that the section of the Volstead act which defines an intoxicating beverage as one with more than a half of one per cent is a legal lie. He pointed out that there was nothing in the Eighteenth Amendment which actually defines an intoxicating beverage.

"To drink or not to drink" is the all absorbing question of the hour, as prohibition is the foremost question occupying the public mind at present, Enright said.

"I am asked what effect prohibition has had in New York city on crime," he continued. "I am unable to answer that question because we have never had any real prohibition up to this time. For the year 1922 there were 11,402 arrests in this city for drunkeness, or from 2,000 to 3,000 more than in any year since 1918. The figures speak for themselves.

"Judges, statesmen, business men of the highest standards now either carry their flask or have a private stock in their homes and don't seem to realize an offense by so doing.

"Women, young boys and girls who never took a drink before prohibition are now indulging in liquors which are a menace to their morals and health. These boys and girls carry flasks to their social functions and think it smart.

"There will never be a recurrence in this city of the saloon evil, which was directly or indirectly responsible for much crime."

FRANCISCO DE LA BARRA

A new honor has just come to Mexico's most distinguished living diplomat—Francisco de la Barra. He has been invited to mediate between the governments of Greece and Bulgaria, and will sail to Europe shortly on this mission.

De la Barra is well known in the United States. He served for two years — 1909-1911 — as ambassador at Washington, where he distinguished himself not only by his diplomatic skill, but by his courtly manners and polished English.

De la Barra was born in the City of Mexico on June 16, 1863, the son of a distinguished Chilian soldier who had fought gallantly for Mexico during the French interference. The son was educated in the law at the College of the City of Mexico, and after serving in the Mexican congress from 1891 to 1896 devoted himself to diplomacy.

For the first ten years of this career he gave most of his attention to the negotiations of treaties. In 1901 and 1906 he was Mexican delegate to the Pan-American congresses, and in 1907 represented her at the peace conference at The Hague.

In 1907 De la Barra was made minister to the South American republics along the Atlantic, and in 1908 was made minister to Holland and Belgium. He was at that post when he became ambassador to the United States.

When Madero began his revolution, November 20, 1910, De la Barra's position became one of extreme importance. It grew steadily until President Taft flung an army division along the Texas border, and finally, March 2, 1911, President Diaz called De la Barra home to take the portfolio of foreign affairs. Two months later Diaz resigned and De la Barra became president in his stead, a post which he held until Madero's inauguration five months afterward.

During the twelve years that have since elapsed, De la Barra has held various diplomatic posts in addition to serving as Mexican minister to France and Japan. For some time past he has been president of the mixed Franco-Austrian arbitration commission established by the treaty of St. Germain.

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 6.—If Glendale Union High School's football team defeats Long Beach in the contest for the Southern California championship this Saturday, they will meet Bakersfield, no doubt, for the Kern county farmer boys figure on defeating Fresno high this week-end with their second string men.

Of course, that "If" is a larger matter for Glendale, as Long Beach highly desires the opportunity of walking over the pigskinners, who last year won the state championship and declare they can repeat. Be that as it may, the Glendale team should expect something tough and rough and machine-made should the opportunity to play Bakersfield materialize.

Coach Goldie Griffith—they christened him Dwight—has just one ambition in life. That is to have a winning football team each year. He usually has. In fact, his production of beef and brawn on the corn fed training table into a well-oiled machine is nothing short of remarkable.

They call the team here the "Drillers" because of the oilfields surrounding the city. If they meet Long Beach it will be Signal Hill vs. Kern River. But it is to be hoped the Drillers meet the Glendale Dynamiters. For, according to Hoyie, the Dynamite crew "Shoots the well" and brings home the gusher, in the language of the oilfields.

Here is the complete schedule for Saturday's prep school games:

Lick meets Berkeley for the north coast title.

Lodi meets Oroville for the north valley title.

Bakersfield meets Fresno for the south valley title.

Glendale meets Long Beach for the south coast title.

Unless ties occur there will be four teams left in the race next Saturday. This will bring the schedule to a semi-final basis. After next Saturday, games for the finals to decide which teams will play for the state championship, will be scheduled. There will be two games in the south and two in the north.

CASABA TOSSERS, DEVELOP TALENT

Varsity and Freshmen Team Lure Basketeers to Try For Teams

By LARRY RAYMOND
Of The Evening News Staff.

Much interest is being taken in basketball at Occidental college, and many candidates for the varsity and freshmen casaba teams have turned out for practice. Sid Nickols, former star basketball artist at Illinois State, is coach. Nickols coached the Drake University five, and later coached professional teams. He has some good material to work with and should develop a corking good basketball team. Practice is held five days a week, three times in the girls' gym and twice at Franklin High gym. The Tigers are still handicapped with the lack of a suitable gymnasium for the men. Such a structure is hoped for in the near future.

Captain Harold Wagner says that the men are working hard and that he looks forward to a successful season. It is rumored that the Oxy teams will make a ten day trip north as far as San Francisco immediately following the final semester examinations early in February.

Eight Game Schedule

It is planned to have each team play eight games, the Varsity meeting the leading Y. M. C. A. teams and the Freshmen taking on the prep teams. Such a trip has never before been attempted by Occidental, and it will be a great step in inter-collegiate athletics for Oxy.

The schedule of conference games is long and will necessitate playing ten games, two with each other conference team, five games at home and five away. Following is the complete conference basketball schedule for 1924:

January 12—Calteck at S. B. U. C.; Whittier at Oxy; Redlands at Pomona.

January 19—Oxy at Caltech; Pomona at Whittier; S. B. U. C. at Redlands.

January 26—Calteck at Pomona; Whittier at Redlands; Oxy at S. B. U. C.

February 2—Redlands at Caltech; Pomona at Oxy; S. B. U. C. at Whittier.

February 9—Whittier at Calteck; Oxy at Redlands; Pomona at S. B. U. C.

February 13—S. B. U. C. at Caltech; Oxy at Whittier; Pomona at Redlands.

February 16—Caltech at Oxy, Whittier at Pomona; Redlands at S. B. U. C.

February 20—Pomona at Caltech; Redlands at Whittier; S. B. U. C. at Oxy.

February 23—Caltech at Redlands; Oxy at Pomona; Whittier at S. B. U. C.

March 2—Caltech at Whittier; Redlands at Oxy; S. B. U. C. at Pomona.

Expert Lists Grid Stars For All-American Teams After Survey of Talent

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—All-American selections:

POSITIONS	FIRST TEAM	SECOND TEAM	THIRD TEAM
End	Macrea, Syracuse	Luman, Yale	Supple, Maryland.
Tackle	Below, Wisconsin	Beam, California	Hindstrom, Cornell.
Guard	Hubbard, Harvard	Welch, Colgate	Faville, Stanford.
Center	Blott, Michigan	Garbisch, Army	Horrell, California.
Guard	McMillan, Illinois	Bedenk, Penn State	Farwick, Army.
Tackle	Millstead, Yale	Waldorf, Syracuse	Blair, Yale.
End	Wakefield, Vander.	Ecklund, Minnesota	Henderson, Cornell.
Quarterback	Pfann, Cornell	Richeson, Yale	Uteritz, Michigan.
Half Back	Grange, Illinois	Noble, Nebraska	Stevens, Yale.
Half Back	Miller, Notre Dame	Wilson, Penn State	Reese, Vanderbilt.
Full Back	Mallory, Yale	Layden, Notre Dme.	J. Thomas, Chicago.

The above represents practical and hearsay evidence on all-star combinations presented to the writer during the course of the 1923 football season, now deceased. Of necessity, much of it is hearsay. Were he endowed with the eye of a Basilisk he could not hope to see one-half of one per cent of all college outfits in the playing days.

It is merely a sum total of what opinion we have founded, the consensus vote of coaches, critics, cash customers and cranks.

Familar Figures

On the first team we have grouped the familiar figures of Macrea, Syracuse; Millstead, Yale, Hubbard, Harvard; Pfann, Cornell; Miller, Notre Dame, and Mallory, Yale; with Wakefield, Vanderbilt; Below, Wisconsin; McMillan, Illinois; Blott, Michigan, and Orange, Illinois, who receive the honor, if any, sight unseen. Of those named we believe there can be no contest of the selection of Hubbard at guard, Pfann at quarterback, Grange at halfback and Mallory at fullback. They are the great names of the great season.

Macrea was easily the best win in the east and Wakefield was so good down Vanderbilt way that they rate him well beyond Bomar, who was Walter Camp's second team end last year. Millstead is probably the best tackle in the country, not always able to discern the point of attack, but the man of great strength. Below and McMillan are polished linemen, the best in the middle west. Blott, according to all accounts, is the last word in center, better even than Garbisch, who has spent seven years, off and on, mastering the position. Miller belongs in any backfield.

Room for Criticism

Many will question the placing of the name of Wilson of Penn State in the second team backfield, and that of Stevens, Yale, in the third team backfield, and that of Lovejoy of Yale and Eckstein of Brown, centers, nowhere at all. The fact is that there was a great plenty of first-class backs and centers this season, and some one had to run for the end book.

Wilson ran amuck against the Navy and Pennsylvania, but was stopped by Syracuse and Pittsburgh, averaging less than two yards against the latter. This performance does not smack of all-American status, say what you will. It seems almost unfair that such a center as Lovejoy is not given recognition somewhere, and the same may be said of various quarterbacks, to wit: Dunn of Marquette, Stuehldreher of Notre Dame, Workman of Ohio State, Smith of the Army and Robertson of Carnegie Tech. They were just good ones among the great.

MANY SPORTS TO HOLD ATTENTION

With Football Season Over, Students Turning to Other Games

With the end of the football season, the students of the University of California are awakening to the fact that there are other sports in the college after all. Only one of the major sports, baseball, has got under way, as yet, but baseball, tennis, track and crew, are coming up.

The aspirants for minor sport teams have been working hard all season, and unnoticed. California is successful in all of its minor sports, but, due to the fact that only a circle 'C' is given for them, not much interest is taken in the sports.

Boxing has more men out for the team than any other minor activity, and the universinty can boast of some of the best boxers on the Pacific Coast in amateur circles. Kenneth Gow, who didn't lose a fight last year was elected captain, and is watching the progress of his band. In Stanly Jones, Blue and Gold boxers have a teacher who has been used to sending out winning teams. Jones is remembered by many old timers as having fought in the squared circle himself, and he was a crackerjack.

Wrestling Habit

Charley Andrews, who is quite a referee for the bay cities, is taking care of the wrestlers, and his men feel heart-broken if they don't clean up on Stanford each year, as habits are hard to break.

There are two weight basketball teams, and these generally figure well up in the P. A. standings.

Golf has been the most recent of sports admitted to the fold, and twenty men are working out on the local municipal links. Captain Stanton Haight is one of the finest golfers in the bay regions and always leads his men, with scores down in the seventies. It is quite logical, that with the growing interest in golf, the men will soon be gaining statewide recognition.

The California Varsity Golfers won their match with Stanford by a score of 11 to 5 in the two-ball matches and 12 to 0 in the four-ball matches.

Grid Eleven Studies Long Beach Strategy

Coach Hayhurst pulled a surprise on the local fans festerday and, bundling his charges into machines, whisked them away to Pasadena for scrimmage with the Crown City eleven on their turf field.

Pasadena lost to Long Beach during the season by a very close score, and the Red and Black mentor hoped to get a line on some of the Jackrabbits' pet plays, which proved the undoing of the neighboring team.

Bryan, who handled the Glendale-Santa Monica game with such success, will have the whistle in Saurday's contest.

Occidental Grid Ace Back After Accident

Pierre Priaulx, star center on the Occidental varsity football team for two years, and who received a broken leg in the Whittier vs. Oxy game earlier in the season, is back in college once more. Priaulx has been in the Pasadena hospital for a month, and is now able to move around on crutches, his leg in a cast. The unfortunate accident took from the Tiger lineup one of the best centers Oxy has ever boasted of. The break in the left leg could not heal because a tiny piece of bone had chipped off. This necessitated operating on his leg. It is hoped that Priaulx will be able to play football again next season.

Post-Season Games Face Conference Ban

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The Pacific coast conference is expected to take a definite stand against post-season football games today.

The Conference is not expected to refuse to sanction the proposed tilt at Pasadena on New Year's day between the University of Washington and Navy elevens, although a whole-hearted endorsement of the game appeared unlikely.

Schedules for 1924 will be fixed at today's session.

Chronic habits grows from faults not nipped in their embryonic state.

RELAY CARNIVAL LURES ATHLETES

Track Stars of Southland on Edge for Occidental's Mid-Winter Meeting

By LARRY RAYMOND

The coming Mid-Winter Relay carnival, to be held at Occidental college next Saturday afternoon, promises to be the headliner of the track season. All the prep, college and university track teams in the Southland are on edge awaiting the starter's gun. Tryouts have been held at all the schools and the entries for the big meet are now in the hands of Coach Timberwolf Pipal, head of the Oxy physical education department and originator of the new annual affair.

Some of the leading prep and college stars in the state will compete. There are to be twenty-four relays, seven field events, and two football events. The weather is ideal for track and the Patterson cinderpath is in good condition for the meet.

Several hundred men are expected to take part in the carnival. Nearly every high school in the south is entered. Hemet is sending two men, San Diego has Smith, the national pole vault star, and others; Huntington Park has entered Nickols in the high hurdles and pole vault; Daggs of Pomona will compete against Martz of U. S. C.; Eddie Pollack, fast sprinter from the Crown City, will go in the open hundred. U. S. C. has twenty men entered, Lincoln High leads the entries with about sixty men, Pasadena High has twenty-six, Hollywood High about thirty-five, Glendale, San Fernando, Alhambra and Harvard Military academy are to take part.

Oxy will have Goodenough in the pole vault, Argue in the high jump and sprints, Montgomery and Morey in the short distances, Don Condit in the hurdle events, Bud Nash in the broad jump, Hurb Morey, and a herd of other men in the relays. U. S. C. is counting on cleaning up things, but Oxy has a good assortmeent of material for all the events.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"My dear Dr. Peters:—I was one of your Too Too Thins. I have gained 20 pounds in two months by following your directions and I am still gaining. I want to eat 1,000 calories for each meal, but you claim do not eat starchy foods, such as potatoes and bread and meat together. Then in order to get 1,000 calories I must eat 10 slices of bread and 10 potatoes at one meal. Is it all right for me because I want to gain?

"I have a terrible pain on the right side of my back when I bend. Is it my kidneys? Thanking you a million times, I remain,

"Not-a-Too-Too-Thin.

"P. S.:—Please let me know if I owe you anything. It is worth ten times more."

In the first place, my dear NOT-a-Too-Too-Thin, it is not from my teachings that you have learned that you must not eat starchy food and meat together, because I do not teach that. In my articles on The So-called Bad Food Combinations recently I told you that potatoes were ideal to eat with meat because the potato has an alkaline reaction and the meat has an acid reaction, and I also told you that a lot of greens should tag along as a protector against the acidity of the meat.

So in this 1,000-calorie meal that you want, you can have a little meat, if you like, for your protein—or cottage cheese, nuts legumes (beans, peas, and lentils); potatoes and other vegetables, whole wheat bread, green salads with oil or mayonnaise, cream soups, milk and desserts, especially the sweet fruits. You see, there are lots of things you can and should eat besides 10 slices of bread and butter and 10 potatoes and butter for your meal of 1,000 calories.

Better have a physical examination to find out what is the cause of your pain. I doubt if it is your kidneys, for pain in the back is not a sign of kidney trouble, notwithstanding the advertisements showing the picture of a man clutching his back and saying: "Oh, my kidneys!"

We haven't a list of the vitamins in form to send out from the office now, but we have had so many demands for it that I am going to publish another article soon and then I will compile it so that we can send it out to those of you who want it.

Congratulations on your gain. I know a person who gained 20 pounds in three months when she spent her vacation in California this summer, most likely from eating all the fresh figs she could assemble, in addition to the other luscious foods of California. She is not at all happy over her gain, so she has part of it reduced and she must reduce the balance of it before she stands before an audience and tells them how to have normal weight, because she does like to be consistent. Can you guess who it is! I will write about it later.

Mrs. K.:—I haven't written anything on the subject of decreased illness from cleanliness alone. It is a very wide subject, covering cleanliness of food, cleanliness of the air, cleanliness of the skin, cleanliness of the intestinal tract, cleanliness of the mind. In fact, we can say that cleanliness is one of the big foundation stones in building the health.

For the girl who chafes badly, cleanliness of the skin would come in and an examination of the urine and any discharges, if there are any; also cleanliness of the wearing apparel. I suspect there is some irritating factor aside from simple perspiration that is causing it.

Mrs. D.:—Your dealer would probably be able to order the Soy Beans you want for your diabetic husband. He will probably have to order them from some big central dealer in New York or some other large city. Soy Beans have a very excellent protein and practically no carbohydrates. A liberal amount of the green leaf vegetables and butter are advisable for the minerals and vitamines (and energy value, especially in the butter).

However, diabetes is not a case for home treatment. So I advise you to have your husband under the care of a specialist.

Mrs. W.:—We have an article on high blood pressure which you may have by sending a fully addressed, stamped envelope, with the request.

Tomorrow:—Confessions of a Baby

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

ONE-PIECE COAT FROCK

Fashioned in the most delightful Paris mode is this coat-frock of black charmeen, trimmed with narrow bands of kolinsky. The front is trimmed with two tiers of self-material, and the fastenings is in the ultra-smart diagonal line. The single rever and collar are cut in one. The simplicity of this model also makes it appropriate for development in velvet. Medium size requires 4 1-4 yards 54-inch material, and 4 3-4 yards narrow fur banding.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1735. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 45 cents.

CAREFULLY PLANNED SIMPLICITY

The simple smartness of this frock is its biggest asset. It may be developed in any of the season's accepted materials—crepe, satin, a soft, lustrous new wool fabric, Poiret twill, or satin Canton in either gray, brown, blue or black. The sleeves and deep hem are stitched with a fancy braid that has the appearance of double hemstitching. The blouse closes surplice-fashion under a soft ribbon girdle. Medium size requires 3 5-8 yards 36-inch or 2 3-4 yards 54-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1683. Sizes, 34 to 50 inches bust. Price, 50 cents. Monogram No. 573. Perforated pattern of any two-letter monogram, 3 inches high, 60 cents.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty years old and have been married and have a baby sixteen months old. I have been going with a young man for nearly ten months and he has asked me to marry him and has given me a nice diamond. I love him, but he is so jealous of me.

When I started to go with him I told him if he cared for me enough to take my baby along with us when we went out I would go with him. He said that was fine, because he loved me and would do anything for me. Now we have gone together for so long that he has refused two or three times to take her.

Do you think he still loves me as he claims? We were to be married three different times and he has put it off every time. Do you think he wants to marry me or not? Be frank with your answer as I am about to give up.

LONESOME KATE.

It looks a little bit as if the young man's love for you is beginning to diminish or that he is tired of your child. Of course if he is tired of your child it is better that you know it before marriage, because you would be very unhappy married to a man who did not love the baby.

Time will help you to decide the best thing to do. You will be able to judge for yourself whether or not the man wants to marry you and whether or not it will be wise to take him as a husband.

I cannot say whether his love for you is diminishing, but I assure you that you will know before long if you are watchful.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am married and have been for eight years. My husband was very jealous at one time and everybody we knew could see it. He worked nights and I think that caused it. Now he has changed positions and works days and is over his jealousy. Now I find myself as bad as he was, although I never was until one day when I saw with my own eyes something in a street car.

We were sitting across from a young girl about nineteen years old and he stared at her and she at him. I was furious. Nothing like that had ever bothered me before. He said I was crazy to be jealous, but he forgot how he used to act. I wasn't allowed to sit next to a man at a show.

What can overcome my jealousy? I don't want to be like that. My husband is very attractive, goodlooking and thirty years old. I am good looking and dress well. I am twenty-six years old.

He is very much in love with himself, but he is good to me. He gets me anything and gives me all the money he can. He never goes out at night without me unless it is to a boxing match or bowling alley. Please tell me what you think. THANK YOU.

Jealousy is a state of mind. People who are able to use common sense and reason are far less apt to be afflicted. When you are stirred with jealousy, turn your thoughts to your husband's kindness to you and the generous way in which he gives you money and spends it on you. A man who is faithless prefers to spend money on himself and the new object of his affection, and his wife and children suffer as a result.

It is evident from your letter that you are letting your imagination make you miserable. Take yourself in hand because you really have every reason for happiness.

BEAUTY CHATS

KEEPING YOUNG

One of my readers sends me a letter and asks merely: "How can I keep young?" I should like to tell her that if I could answer her question I could all but revolutionize the world. From the earliest time people have gone forth to find the fountain of youth. At one time they thought it was a well in whose waters one could bathe and be made young. Nowadays they experiment with monkey gland operations, or even put their faith in jars of cold cream and patented muds. My reader asks: "Do you think it is a gift from God, or what is it?" and talks about a sister who is 40 years old and looks 28.

There are people who stay young far beyond the ordinary period of youth, and for no apparent reason. But if you come to study them closely you will probably find that, though they work (work can keep us young) they do not work hard enough to use up all their strength, and that they are blessed with good health and a great deal of strength. You will find they do not wear themselves out nervously, that they usually do not worry or fret, and that they live what we call normally healthy lives. Of course, I know there are many exceptions to these general rules. I have known very delicate women keep their youth because they took such good care of themselves, and I have known women who have lived the most unhealthy sort of lives look young because they had superb constitutions.

Happiness has a lot to do with it, therefore the happy temperament that can squeeze a little joy from almost everything, is apt to keep its owner young. But it is not possible to say to a woman: "Be happy and you will be youthful." It is too complicated for that. I can only suggest that she try everything sensible she knows of to keep herself young and see if somewhere she doesn't find her particular solution. Good health, a sensible life, enough work to do, and a little play should do it.

School Girl:—If the fine hair on your face is really disfiguring, bleach it with peroxide, but do not get into the habit of removing this hair with depilatories. Such a method will make the hair coarser than now. A mixture of ammonia and peroxide in equal parts sometimes weaken such hair so it dies out.

Miss F. H., Bobbie S., M. M.K., B. B., A Reader, J. T., A. S. Clara.—A girl of twenty-two years of age who is five feet, two inches, will be normal weight at 112 pounds and for each year younger subtract a half of a pound to the age of fifteen; for each inch less subtract two pounds. For each five years older than twenty-two add two pounds, up to about forty-five, after that there should be very little difference in the amount. For each inch taller than five feet two, add three pounds.

Miss E. T. B.:—I will be glad to send you the formula for freckles, if you request and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the mailing.

Tomorrow:—Well Shaped Hips.

All inquiries addreseed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Several mothers have written to ask me to publish simple games suitable to play at a children's party. The following come within this category:

Fanning the Feather: Seat the children around a bed-sheet on the floor. Each child grasps the edge of this sheet with his left hand, so as to hold the sheet about six inches from the floor, his right hand holds a small fan. In the middle of the sheet lies a feather. When the mother-hostess blows a whistle, all the children begin fanning the feather, each little player trying to keep the feather as far from himself as possible. In one full minute the hostess blows the whistle again, and the child who is nearest to the feather must drop out of the game. Then the whistle is blown again—and the fun repeated. At last only two children remain at the sheet, and the one who is farthest from the feather when the whistle sounds for the last time, wins a prize. This is such a popular game with the kiddies, that it may be repeated several times if the hostess has provided several inexpensive prizes—such as lollypops or ten-cent ballons.

Puzzle Game: Before the party, mount several pretty magazine covers on stiff cardboard, then cut each picture into eight or ten parts. Group three or four children around each of these cut-up puzzles and, at a signal let them begin putting the small pieces together to form a perfect picture. The group that first succeeds may receive some small, inexpensive prize such as little rubber balls.

Drawing a Perfect Circle: This is a game which the children will enjoy tremendously. In turn, each child is blindfolded and led to a large sheet of wrapping paper hanging on the wall and told to "draw a perfect circle" with a piece of colored crayon. The mother-hostess then writes the child's initials inside the circle to avoid confusion. When all have had a turn, the hostess decides which circle is the most perfect, awarding a suitable prize—such as a child's paint box— to the little "artist" who has won.

Full Text of President Coolidge's Message to Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States, today announces his policies to the nation and to the world. He appeared before a new congress and delivered a message of candor and in it gave his recommendations on more than a score of outstanding problems. His message in full follows:

Since the close of the last Congress, the nation has lost President Harding. The world knew his kindness and his humanity, his greatness and his character He has left his mark upon history. He has made justice more certain and peace more secure. The surpassing tribute paid to his memory as he was borne across the continent to rest at last at home, revealed the place he held in the hearts of the American people. But this is not the occasion for extended reference to the man or his work. In this presence, among those who knew and loved him, that is unnecessary. But we who were associated with him could not resume together the functions of our office without pausing for a moment, and in his memory reconsecrating ourselves to the service of our country. He is gone. We remain. It is our duty, under the inspiration of his example, to take up the burdens which he was permitted to lay down, and to develop and support the wise principles of government which he represented.

Foreign Affairs

For us peace reigns everywhere We desire to perpetuate it always by granting full justice to others and requiring of others, full justice to ourselves.

Our country has one cardinal principle to maintain in its foreign policy. It is an American principle. It must be an American policy. We attend to our own affairs, conserve our own strength, and protect the interests of our own citizens; but we recognize thoroughly our obligation to help others, reserving to the decision of our own judgment the time, the place, and the method. We realize the common bond of humanity. We know the inescapable law of service.

Our country has definitely refused to adopt and ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. We have not felt warranted in assuming the responsibilities which its members have assumed. I am not proposing any change in this policy; neither is the Senate. The incident, so far as we are concerned, is closed. The League exists as a foreign agency. We hope it will be helpful. But the United States sees no reason to limit its own freedom and independence of action by joining it. We shall do well to recognize this basic fact in all national affairs and govern ourselves accordingly.

World Court

Our foreign policy has always been guided by two principles. The one is the avoidance of permanent political alliances which would sacrifice our proper independence. The other is the peaceful settlement of controversies between nations. By example and by treaty, we have advocated arbitration. For nearly twenty-five years we have been a member of The Hague Tribunal, and have long sought the creation of a permanent World Court of Justice. I am in full accord with both of these policies. I favor the establishment of such a court intended to include the whole world. That is, and has long been, an American policy.

Pending before the Senate is a proposal that this Government give its support to the Permanent Court of International Justice, which is a new and somewhat different plan. This is not a partisan question. It should not assume an artificial importance. The court is merely a convenient instrument of adjustment to which we could go, but to which we could not be brought. It should be discussed with entire candor, not by a political, but by a judicial method, without pressure and without prejudice. Partisanship has no place in our foreign relations. As I wish to see a court established, and as the proposal presents the only practical plan on which many nations have ever agreed, though it may not meet every desire, I therefore commend it to the favorable consideration of the Senate, with the proposed reservations clearly indicating our refusal to adhere to the League of Nations.

Russia

Our diplomatic relations, lately so largely interrupted, are now being resumed, but Russia presents notable difficulties. We have every desire to see that great people, who are our traditional friends, restored to their position among the nations of the earth We have relieved their pitiable destitution, with an enormous charity. Our Government offers no objection to the carrying on of commerce by our citizens with the people of Russia. Our Government does not propose, however, to enter into relations with another regime which refuses to recognize the sanctity of international obligations. I do not propose to barter away for the privilege of trade, any of the cherished rights of humanity. I do not propose to make merchandise of any American principles. These rights and principles must go wherever the sanctions of our Government go.

But, while the favor of America is not for sale, I am willing to make very large concessions for the purpose of rescuing the people of Russia. Already encouraging evidences of returning to the ancient ways of society can be detected. But more are needed. Whenever there appears any disposition to compensate our citizens, who were despoiled, and to recognize that debt contracted with our Government, not by the Czar, but by the newly formed Republic of Russia; whenever the active spirit of enmity to our institutions is abated; whenever there appears works mete for repentance; our country ought to be the first to go to the economic and moral rescue of Russia. We have every desire to help and no desire to injure. We hope the time is near at hand when we can act.

Debts

The current debt and interest due from foreign Governments, exclusive of the British debt of $4,600,000,000, is about $7,200,000,000. I do not favor the cancellation of this debt, but I see no objection to adjusting it in accordance with the principle adopted for the British debt. Our country would not wish to assume the role of an oppressive creditor, but would maintain the principle that financial obligations between nations are likewise moral obligations which international faith and honor require should be discharged.

Our Government has liquidated claim against Germany for the expense of the army of occupation of over $225,000,000. Besides this, the Mixed Claims Commission have before them about 12,500 claims of American citizens, aggregating about $1,225,000,000. These claims have already been reduced by a recent decision, but there are valid claims reaching well toward $500,000,000. Our thousands of citizens with credits due them of hundreds of millions of dollars, have no redress save in the action of our Government. These are very substantial interests, which it is the duty of our Government to protect as best it can. That course I propose to pursue.

It is for these reasons that we have a direct interest in the economic recovery of Europe. They are enlarged by our desire for the stability of civilization and the welfare of humanity. That we are making sacrifices to that end none can deny. Our deferred interest alone amounts to a million dollars every day. But recently we offered to aid with our advice and counsel. We have reiterated our desire to see France paid and Germany revived. We have proposed disarmament. We have earnestly sought to compose differences and restore peace. We shall persevere in well-doing, not by force, but by reason.

Foreign Papers

Under the law the papers pertaining to foreign relations to be printed are transmitted as a part of this message. Other volumes of these papers will follow.

The foreign service of our Government needs to be reorganized and improved.

Our main problems are domestic problems. Financial stability is the first requisite of sound government. We can not escape the effect of world conditions. We can not avoid the inevitable results of the economic disorders which have reached all nations But we shall diminish their harm to us in proportion as we continue to restore our Government finances to a secure and endurable position. This we can and must do. Upon that firm foundation rests the only hope of progress and prosperity. From that source must come relief for the people.

This is being accomplished by a drastic but orderly retrenchment, which is bringing our expenses within our means. The origin of this has been the determination of the American people, the main support has been the courage of those in authority, and the effective method has been the budget system. The result has involved real sacrifice by department heads, but it has been made without flinching. This system is a law of the Congress It represents your will. It must be maintained, and ought to be strengthened by the example of your observance. Without a budget system, there can be no fixed responsibility and no constructive scientific economy.

This great concentration of effort by the administration and Congress, has brought the expenditures, exclusive of the self-supporting Post Office Department, down to three billion dollars. It is possible, in consequence, to make a large reduction in the taxes of the people, which is the sole object of all curtailment. This is treated at greater length in the budget message, and a proposed plan has been presented in detail in a statement by the Secretary of the Treasury which has my unqualified approval. I especially commend a decrease on earned incomes, and further abolition of admission, message, and nuisance taxes. The amusement and educational value of moving pictures ought not to be taxed. Diminishing charges against moderate incomes from investment, will afford immense relief, while a revision of the surtaxes will not only provide additional money for capital investment, thus stimulating industry and employing more labor, but will not greatly reduce the revenue from that source, and may in the future, actually increase it.

Being opposed to war taxes in time of peace, I am not in favor of excess-profits taxes. A very great service could be rendered through immediate enactment of legislation relieving the people of some of the burden of taxation. To reduce war taxes is to give every home a better chance.

For seven years the people have borne with uncomplaining courage the tremendous burden of national and local taxation. These must both be reduced. The taxes of the nation must be reduced now as much as prudence will permit, and expenditures must be reduced accordingly. High taxes reach everywhere and burden everybody. They bear most heavily upon the poor. They diminish industry and commerce. They make agriculture unprofitable. They increase the rates on transportation. They are a charge on every necessary of life. Of all services which the Congress can render to the country I have no hesitation in declaring this one to be paramount. To neglect it, to postpone it, to obstruct it by unsound proposals, is to become unworthy of public confidence and untrue to public trust. The country wants this measure to have the right of way over all others.

Another reform which is urgent in our fiscal system is the abolition of the right to issue tax-exempt securities. The existing system not only permits a large amount of the wealth of the nation to escape its just burden, but acts as a continual stimulant to municipal extravagance. This should be prohibited by constitutional amendment. All the wealth of the nation ought to contribute its fair share to the expenses of the nation .

Tariff Law

The present tariff law has accomplished its two main objects. It has secured an abundant revenue and been productive of an abounding prosperity. Under it, the country has had a very large export and import trade. A constant revision of the tariff by the Congress is disturbing and harmful. The present law contains an elastic provision authorizing the President to increase or decrease present schedules not in excess of 50 per centum to meet the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. This does not, to my mind, warrant a rewriting of the whole law, but does mean, and will be so administered, that whenever the required investigation shows that inequalities of sufficient importance exist in any schedule, the power to change them should and will be applied.

The entire well being of our country is dependent upon transportation by sea and land. Our Government during the war, acquired a large merchant fleet, which should be transferred, as soon as possible, to private ownership and operation, under conditions which would secure two results: First, and of prime importance, adequate means for national defense; second, adequate service to American commerce. Until shipping conditions are such that our fleet can be disposed of advantageously under these conditions, it will be operated as economically as possible under such plans as may be devised from time to time by the Shipping Board. We must have a merchant marine which meets these requirements, and we shall have to pay the cost of its service.

The time has come to resume in a moderate way the opening of our intracoastal waterways; the control of flood waters of the Mississippi and of the Colorado Rivers; the improvement of the water ways from the Great Lakes toward the Gulf of Mexico; and the development of the great power and navigation project of the St. Lawrence river, for which efforts are now being made to secure the necessary treaty with Canada. These projects can not all be undertaken at once, but all should have the immediate consideration of the Congress and be adopted as fast as plans can be matured and the necessary funds become available. This is not incompatible with economy, for their nature does not require so much a public expenditure as a capital investment which will be reproductive, as evidenced by the marked increase in revenue from the Panama Canal. Upon these projects depend much future industrial and agricultural progress. They represent the protection of large areas from flood and the addition of a great amount of cheap power and cheap freight by use of navigation, chief of which is the bringing of ocean-going ships to the Great Lakes.

Another problem of allied character is the superpower development of the Northeastern States, consideration of which is proceeding under the direction of the Department of Commerce by joint conference with the local authorities.

Railroads

Criticism of the railroad law has been directed, first, to the section laying down the rule by which rates are fixed, and providing for payment to the Government and use of excess earnings; second, to the method for the adjustment of wage scales; and third, to the authority permitting consolidations.

It has been erroneously assumed that the act undertakes to guarantee railroad earnings. The law requires that rates should be just and reasonable. That has always been the rule under which rates have been fixed. To make a rate that does not yield a fair return results in confiscation, and confiscatory rates are of course unconstitutional. Unless the Government adheres to the rule of making a rate that will yield a fair return, it must abandon rate making altogether. The new and important feature of that part of the law is the recapture and redistribution of excess rates. The constitutionality of this method is now before the Supreme Court for adjudication. Their decision should be awaited before attempting further legislation on this subject. Furthermore, the importance of this feature will not be great if consolidation goes into effect.

The settlement of railroad labor disputes is a matter of grave public concern. The Labor Board was established to protect the public in the enjoyment of continuous service by attempting to insure justice between the companies and their employes. It has been a great help, but is not altogether satisfactory to the public, the employes, or the companies. If a substantial agreement can be reached among the groups interested, there should be no hesitation in enacting such agreement into law. If it is not reached, the Labor Board may very well be left for the present to protect the public welfare.

The law for consolidations is not sufficiently effective to be expeditious. Additional legislation is needed giving authority for voluntary consolidations, both regional and route, and providing Government machinery to aid and stimulate such action, always subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This should authorize the commission to appoint committees for each proposed group, representing the public and the component roads, with power to negotiate with individual security holders for an exchange of their securities for those of the consolidation on such terms and conditions as the commission may prescribe for avoiding any confiscation and preserving fair values. Should this permissive consolidation prove ineffective after a limited period, the authority of the Government will have to be directly invoked.

Consolidation appears to be the only feasible method for the maintenance of an adequate system of transportation with an opportunity so to adjust freight rates as to meet such temporary conditions as now prevail in some agricultural sections. Competent authorities agree that an entire reorganization of the rate structure for freight is necessary. This should be ordered at once by the Congress.

Department of Justice

As no revision of the laws of the United States has been made since 1878, a commission or committee should be created to undertake this work. The Judicial Council reports that two more district judges are needed in the southern district of New York, one in the northern district of Georgia, and two more circuit judges in the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Eighth Circuit. Legislation should be considered for this purpose.

It is desirable to expedite the hearing and disposal of cases. A commission of federal judges and lawyers should be created to recommend legislation by which the procedure in the federal trial courts may be simplified and regulated by rules of court, rather than by statute; such rules to be submitted to the Congress and to be in force until annulled or modified by the Congress. The Supreme Court needs legislation revising and simplifying the laws governing review by that court, and enlarging the classes of cases of too little public importance to be subject to review. Such reforms would expedite the transaction of the business of the courts. The administration of justice is likely to fail if it be long delayed.

The National Government has never given adequate attention to its prison problems. It ought to provide employment in such forms of production as can be used by the Government, though not sold to the public in competition with private business, for all prisoners who can be placed at work, and for which they should receive a reasonable compensation, available for their dependents.

Two independent reformatories are needed; one for the segregation of women, and another for the segregation of young men serving their first sentence.

The administration of justice would be facilitated greatly by including in the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice a Division of Criminal Identification, where there would be collected this information which is now indispensable in the suppression of crime.

The prohibition amendment to the Constitution requires the Congress and the President to provide adequate laws to prevent its violation. It is my duty to enforce such laws. For that purpose a treaty is being negotiated with Great Britain with respect to the right of search of hovering vessels. To prevent smuggling, the Coast Guard should be greatly strengthened, and a supply of swift power boats should be provided. The major sources of production should be rigidly regulated, and every effort should be made to suppress inter-state traffic. With this action on the part of the National Government, and the co-operation which is usually rendered by municipal and state authorities, prohibition should be made effective. Free government has no greater menace than disrespect for authority and continual violation of law. It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation.

The Negro

Numbered among our population are some 12,000,000 colored people. Under our Constitution their rights are just as sacred as those of any other citizen. It is both a public and a private duty to protect those rights. The Congress ought to exercise all its powers of prevention and punishment against the hideous crime of lynching, of which the Negroes are by no means the sole sufferers, but for which they furnish a majority of the victims.

Already a considerable sum is appropriated to give the Negroes vocational training in agriculture. About half a million dollars is recommended for medical courses at Howard University to help contribute to the education of 500 colored doctors needed each year. On account of the migration of large numbers into industrial centers, it has been proposed that a commission be created, composed of members from both races, to formulate a better policy for mutual understanding and confidence. Such an effort is to be commended. Everyone would rejoice in the accomplishment of the results which it seeks. But it is well to recognize that these difficulties are to a large extent local problems which must be worked out by the mutual forbearance and human kindness of each community. Such a method gives much more promise of a real remedy than outside interference.

Civil Service

The maintenance and extension of the classified civil service is exceedingly important. There are nearly 550,000 persons in the executive civil service drawing about $700,000,000 of yearly compensation. Four-fifths of these are in the classified service. This method of selection of the employes of the United States is especially desirable for the Post Office Department. The Civil Service Commission has recommended that postmasters at first, second, and third class offices be classified. Such action, accomplished by a repeal of the four-year term of office, would undoubtedly be an improvement. I also recommend that the field force for prohibition enforcement be brought within the classified civil service without covering in the present membership. The best method for selecting public servants is the merit system.

Many of the departments in Washington need better housing facilities. Some are so crowded that their work is impeded, others are so scattered that they lose their identity. While I do not favor at this time, a general public building law, I believe it is now necessary, in accordance with plans already sanctioned for a unified and orderly system for the development of this city, to begin the carrying out of those plans by authorizing the erection of three or four buildings most urgently needed by an annual appropriation of $5,000,000.

Co-operation with other maritime powers is necessary for complete protection of our coast waters from pollution. Plans for this are under way, but await certain experiments for refuse disposal. Meantime laws prohibiting spreading oil and oil refuse from vessels in our own territorial waters would be most helpful against this menace and should be speedily enacted.

Laws should be passed regulating aviation.

Revision is needed of the laws regulating radio interference.

Legislation and regulations establishing load lines to provide safe loading of vessels leaving our ports are necessary and recodification of our navigation laws is vital.

Revision of procedure of the Federal Trade Commission will give more constructive purpose to this department.

If our Alaskan fisheries are to be saved from destruction, there must be further legislation declaring a general policy and delegating the authority to make rules and regulations to an administrative body.

Army and Navy

For several years we have been decreasing the personnel of the army and navy, and reducing their power to the danger point. Further reductions should not be made. The army is a guarantee of the security of our citizens at home; the navy is a guarantee of the security of our citizens abroad. Both of these services should be strengthened rather than weakened. Additional planes are needed for the army, and additional submarines for the navy. The defenses of Panama must be perfected. We want no more competitive armaments. We want no more war. But we want no weakness that invites imposition. A people who neglect their national defense are putting in jeopardy their national honor.

Conditions in the insular possessions on the whole have been good. Their business has been reviving. They are being administered according to law. That effort has the full support of the administration. Such recommendations as may come from their people or their governments should have the most considerate attention.

Our national Government is not doing as much as it legitimately can do to promote the welfare of the people. Our enormous material wealth, our institutions, our whole form of society, can not be considered fully successful until their benefits reach the merit of every individual. This is not a suggestion that the Government should, or could, assume for the people the inevitable burdens of existence. There is no method by which we can either be relieved of the results of our own folly or be guaranteed a successful life. There is an inescapable personal responsibility for the development of character, of industry, of thrift, and of self-control. These do not come from the Government, but from the people themselves. But the Government can and should always be expressive of steadfast determination, always vigilant, to maintain conditions under which these virtues are most likely to develop and secure recognition and reward. This is the American policy.

It is in accordance with this principle that we have enacted laws for the protection of the public health and have adopted prohibition in narcotic drugs and intoxicating liquors. For purposes of national uniformity we ought to provide, by constitutional amendment and appropriate legislation, for a limitation of child labor, and in all cases under the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government a minimum wage law for women, which would undoubtedly find sufficient power of enforcement in the influence of public opinion.

Having in mind that education is peculiarly a local problem, and that it should always be pursued with the largest freedom of choice by students and parents, nevertheless, the federal Government might well give the benefit of its counsel and encouragement more freely in this direction. If anyone doubts the need of concerted action by the states of the nation for this purpose, it is only necessary to consider the appalling figure of illiteracy representing a condition which does not vary much in all parts of the Union. I do not favor the making of appropriations from the national treasury to be expended directly on local education, but I do consider it a fundamental requirement of national activity which, accompanied by allied subjects of welfare, is worthy of a separate department and a place in the cabinet. The humanitarian side of government should not be repressed, but shold be cultivated.

Mere intelligence, however, is not enough. Enlightenment must be accompanied by that moral power which is the product of the home and of religion. Real education and true welfare for the people rest inevitably on this foundation, which the Government can approve and commend, but which the people themselves must create.

Immigration

American institutions rest solely on good citizenship. They were created by people who had a background of self-government. New arrivals should be limited to our capacity to absorb them into the ranks of good citizenship. America must be kept American. For this purpose, it is necessary to continue a policy of restricted immigration. It would be well to make such immigration of a selective nature with some inspection at the source, and based either on a prior census or upon the record of naturalization. Either method would insure the admission of those with the largest capacity and best intention of becoming citizens. I am convinced that our present economic and social conditions warrant a limitation of those to be admitted. We should find additional safety in a law requiring the immediate registration of all aliens. Those who do not want to be partakers of the American spirit ought not to settle in America.

Veterans

No more important duty falls on the Government of the United States than the adequate care of its veterans. Those suffering disabilities incurred in the service must have sufficient hospital relief and compensation. Their dependents must be supported. Rehabilitation and vocational training must be completed. All of this service must be clean, must be prompt and effective, and it must be administered in a spirit of the broadest and deepest human sympathy. If investigation reveals any present defects of administration or need of legislation, orders will be given for the immediate correction of administration, and recommendations for legislation should be given the highest preference.

At present there are 9,500 vacant beds in Government hospitals, I recommend that all hospitals be authorized at once to receive and care for, without hospital pay, the veterans of all wars needing such care, whenever there are vacant beds, and that immediate steps be taken to enlarge and build new hospitals to serve all such cases.

The American Legion will present to the Congress a legislative program too extensive for detailed discussion here. It is a carefully matured plan. While some of it I do not favor, with much of it I am in hearty accord, and I recommend that a most painstaking effort be made to provide remedies for any defects in the administration of the present laws which their experience has revealed. The attitude of the Government toward these proposals should be one of generosity. But I do not favor the granting of a bonus.

The cost of coal has become unbearably high. It places a great burden on our industrial and domestic life. The public welfare requires a reduction in the price of fuel. With the enormous deposits in existence, failure of supply ought not to be tolerated Those responsible for the conditions in this industry should undertake its reform and free it from any charge of profiteering.

The report of the Coal Commission will be before the Congress. It comprises all the facts. It represents the mature deliberations and conclusions of the best talent and experience that ever made a national survey of the production and distribution of fuel. I do not favor government ownership or operation of coal mines. The need is for action under private ownership that will secure greater continuity of production and greater public protection. The federal government probably has no peace time authority to regulate wages, prices or profits in coal at the mines or among dealers, but, by ascertaining and publishing facts, it can exercise great influence.

The source of the difficulty in the bituminous coal fields is the intermittence of operation which causes great waste of both capital and labor. That part of the report dealing with this problem has much significance, and is suggestive of necessary remedies. By amending the car rules, by encouraging greater unity of ownership, and possibly by permitting common selling agents for limited districts on condition that they accept adequate regulations and guarantee that competition between districts be unlimited, distribution, storage and continuity ought to be improved.

The supply of coal must be constant. In case of its prospective interruption, the president should have authority to appoint a commission empowered to deal with whatever emergency situation there might arise, to aid conciliation and voluntary arbitration, to adjust any existing or threatened controversy between the employer and the employe when collective bargaining fails, and by controlling distribution to prevent profiteering in this vital necessity. This legislation is exceedingly urgent, and essential to the exercise of national authority for the protection of the people. Those who undertake the responsibility of management or employment in this industry do so with the full knowledge that the public interest is paramount, and that to fail through any motive of selfishness in its service is such a betrayal of duty as warrants uncompromising action by the government.

Reorganization

A special joint committee has been appointed to work out a plan for a reorganization of the different departments and bureaus of the government more scientific and economical than the present system. With the exception of the consolidation of the War and Navy departments and some minor details, the plan has the general sanction of the president and the cabinet. It is important that reorganization be enacted into law at the present session.

Aided by the sound principles adopted by the government, the business of the country has had an extraordinary revival. Looked at as a whole, the nation is in the enjoyment of remarkable prosperity. Industry and commerce are thriving. For the most part agriculture is successful, eleven staples having risen in value from about $5,300,000,000 two years ago to about $7,000,000,000 for the current year. But range cattle are still low in price, and some sections of the wheat area, notably Minnesota, North Dakota and on west, have many cases of actual distress. With his products not selling on a parity with the products of industry, every sound remedy that can be devised should be applied for the relief of the farmer. He represents a character of type of citizenship, and a public necessity that must be preserved and afforded every facility for regaining prosperity.

The distress is most acute among those wholly dependent upon one crop. Wheat acreage was greatly expanded and has not yet been sufficiently reduced. A large amount is raised for export, which has to meet the competition in the world market of large amounts raised on land much cheaper and much more productive.

No complicated scheme of relief, no plan for government fixing of prices, no resort to the public treasury will be of any permanent value in establishing agriculture. Simple and direct methods put into operation by the farmer himself are the only real sources for restoration.

Indirectly the farmer must be relieved by a reduction of national and local taxation. He must be assisted by the reorganization of the freight rate structure which could reduce charges on his production. To make this fully effective there ought to be railroad consolidations. Cheaper fertilizer must be provided.

He must have organization. His customer with whom he exchanges products of the farm for those of industry is organized, labor is organized, business is organized, and there is no way for agriculture to meet this unless it, too, is organized. The acreage of wheat is too large. Unless we can meet the world market at a profit, we must stop raising for export. Organization would help to reduce acreage. Systems of co-operative marketing created by the farmers themselves, supervised by competent management, without doubt would be of assistance, but they can not wholly solve the problem. Our agricultural schools ought to have thorough courses in the theory of organization and co-operative marketing.

Diversification is necessary. Those farmers who raise their living on their land are not greatly in distress. Such loans as are wisely needed to assist buying stock and other materials to start in this direction should be financed through a government agency as a temporary and emergency expedient.

The remaining difficulty is the disposition of exportable wheat. I do not favor the permanent interference of the government in this problem. That probably would increase the trouble by increasing production. But it seems feasible to provide government assistance to exports, and authority should be given the War Finance corporation to grant, in its discretion, the most liberal terms of payment for fats and grains exported for the direct benefit of the farm.

Muscle Shoals

The government is undertaking to develop a great water-power project known as Muscle Shoals, on which it has expended many million dollars. The work is still going on. Subject to the right to retake in time of war, I recommend that this property with a location for auxiliary steam plant and rights-of-way be sold. This would end the present burden of expense and should return to the treasury the largest price possible to secure.

While the price is an important element, there is another consideration even more compelling. The agriculture of the nation needs a greater supply and lower cost of fertilizer. This is now imported in large quantities. The best information I can secure indicates that present methods of power production would not be able profitably to meet the price at which these imports can be sold. To obtain a supply from this water power would require long and costly experimentation to per-

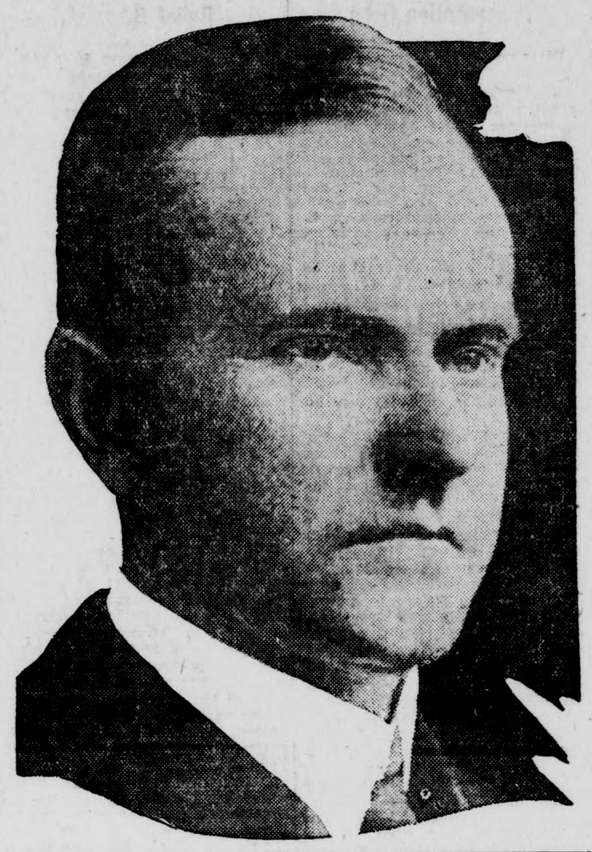
PRESIDENT COOLIDGE



Coolidge Told Congress:

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—America wants and stands willing to help other nations, but can best serve herself and the world remaining free, independent and powerful.

He favors America entering the world court with such reservations as will make it clear we shall not adhere to the League of Nations.

The league is a dead issue so far as America is concerned.

There should be no cancellation of foreign debts.

Russia should not be recognized until she acknowledges her just debts and ceases opposition to our institutions.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS—He strongly approves the Mellon program of tax reduction as written. He is NOT in favor of a soldiers' bonus.

Congress should act at once to compel a revision of freight rates.

The nation's railroads should be permitted to voluntarily consolidate into regional systems, which is the final solution of the railroad problem.

The railroad labor board should be let alone until a better method is provided for dealing with labor disputes.

The tariff should not be tinkered with.

The government should sell its ships and get out of the shipping business as quickly as possible.

The coast guard should be strengthened to prevent rum smuggling, and all citizens should obey the dry laws.

Postmasters and prohibition agents should be placed under civil service.

The army and navy should be increased in size and power.

Immigration should be rigidly restricted and aliens registered.

The constitution should be amended to prohibit child labor and the issuance of tax exempt securities.

The government should extend easy credit and marketing facilities to the farmer and then allow him to work out his own salvation.

Muscle Shoals should be sold to the highest bidder.

The president should be clothed with power to take emergency action in coal strikes.

Waterways should be improved from the Great Lakes to the gulf and the St. Lawrence river project pushed to completion.

Laws should be passed regulating aviation and radio.

A commission should be formed to promote better understanding between whites and negroes in this country.

Pharmacist to Open Store on E. Broadway

E. E. Brown, who recently disposed of his Park Avenue Pharmacy, at the corner of Brand boulevard and Park avenue, states that he has secured a location at the corner of East Broadway and Maryland avenue and will open a first class drug store early in June, 1924, after extensive alterations of the premises.

LAST REHEARSAL OF 'OH-HO' STAGED

Director Reber Predicts Big Success for Comedy In Presentation Here

Director John Reber declares the "Oh-Ho" show is ready for the stage. Reber said today that he expected one of the very finest productions of "Oh-Ho" that he has ever directed, and, in that this production is reported to hold amateur show records in many of California's leading cities, a real treat must await the crowds who will witness this production tomorrow and Saturday evenings here.

The final dress rehearsal is being held at the Tuesday Afternoon Club Theatre this evening. A special orchestra, composed of members of the Philharmonic of Los Angeles, will play the accompaniments for the score of "Oh-Ho," assuring that the score will be heard to the very best advantage.

The cast of leads of the "Oh-Ho" show include ten of as clever people as have been drawn together for any show event in this city.

Has Prima Donna Role

In the prima donna role will be heard Miss Flora Phyllis Kilpatrick, a newcomer to Glendale, but happily remembered by all those who have been fortunate enough to have heard her wonderful lyric soprano. Miss Kilpatrick has just recently completed her musical education in New York, and will be heard in concert throughout the West beginning the first of the year. The Tuesday Afternoon Club are most fortunate in having Miss Kilpatrick in the leading vocal role of their production.

As the two co-eds, Mrs. Malvern Barker and Miss Hazel Linkogel, are so captivating in their parts as to cause any two college "Romeos" to lose their hearts to them, as they do in the college musical play. Miss Linkogel will be heard in "When Hearts Are Young," a most tuneful number, and Mrs. Barker will certainly win her audience in her clever rendition of the "Half Past Two" song, Their acting opportunities give them full opportunity for some clever work.

Miss Jane Pearsall, popular Hollywood sub-deb, is cast as the ingenue, "Neli Fierborn," and in her song and cane dance with the college boys she has a most appealing number.

Plenty of Comedians

As far as the "mere men" of the cast are concerned, each and every one of the six is listed as a "comedian," and, if they do not keep their audiences roaring in laughter all the time they are on the stage, the audience can claim there is something wrong with the interpretation.

Joe Griffin has the "cream" part of the show. Joe has the dual role of college man and "prima donna." Yes, Joe's Paris gowns have arrived, and he is all ready to don the petticoats and addenda paraphernalia of the society queen to do his stuff. To Griffin falls one of the nicest parts in the musical comedy, and in his role of leading comedian Joe Griffin is sure to win new laurels to his long list of conquests here in stage circles.

George Lowery, past monologist with the University of California Glee Club, and a mighty clever comedian, has the role of "Scrub," the freshman frat pledge.

The Glendale Elks will have a big turnout at the "Oh-Ho" show to greet a man who has made many friends at Glendale lodge, in Arthur K. Wyatt, past exalted ruler of Pasadena lodge. Arthur Wyatt, following the inability of D. Ripley Jackson, owing to confliction of dates, to be able to play the part of the college professor in "Oh-Ho," has kindly consented to play this role here. That Wyatt did this role in Pasadena each of the eleven performances this show played in the Crown City, indicates he will be able to put up a whale of a performance. Wyatt is a professional comedian of vast experience, and has created a regular furore during his former rendition of this difficult role.

Professional Touch

Jack Stathem, one of Glendale's most popular professional actors, is getting away with the role of "Major Langtry" in his true professional calibre, and John Reber and Stanley Lindman, as the college "Romeos," have fine parts that they are doing to a nicety.

The big chorus of boys and girls are giving the show a dash and pep rarely to be seen in amateur productions. There are more than forty young people in the "Oh-Ho" cast, Glendale's most beautiful girls and jazziest young men.

The sale of reserved seats is going on at the Sun Drug Store. Tomorrow evening seats can be had at the theatre, where the box office will be held. The show is expected to play to big business on both nights of its engagement.

"Oh-Ho" will be seen Friday and Saturday evenings at the Tuesday Afternoon Club Theatre.

TO EXTRACT GASOLINE

The Mexican government has granted its first concession for the installation of plants that will extract gasoline from natural gas.

RELIEVED BOY'S COUGH

Mrs. L. Van Belle, Pendroy, Mont., writes: "I like your Cough Medicine very well. My little boy, 6 years old, had a very bad cough and after using FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND he secured relief." For coughs, colds and hoarseness there is no better remedy on the market today than FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. It has stood the test of time, serving three generations. Get the genuine; refuse substitutes.

FIRST MESSAGE FROM COOLIDGE

President Gives His Views on Rail Combines, Farmer Relief Question

fect a process for cheap production. Otherwise our purpose would fail completely. It seems desirable, therefore, in order to protect and promote the public welfare, to have adequate covenants that such experimentation be made and carried on to success. The great advantage of low-priced nitrates must be secured for the direct benefit of the farmers and the indirect benefit of the public in time of peace, and of the government in time of war. If this main object be accomplished, the amount of money received for the property is not a primary or major consideration.

Such a solution will involve complicated negotiations, and there is no authority for that purpose. I therefore recommend that the congress appoint a small joint committee to consider offers, conduct negotiations, and report definite recommendations.

By reason of many contributing causes, occupants of our reclamation projects are in financial difficulties, which in some cases are acute. Relief should be granted by definite authority of law empowering the secretary of the interior in his discretion to suspend, readjust and reassess all charges against water users. This whole question is being considered by experts. You will have the advantage of the facts and conclusions which they may develop. This situation, involving a government investment of more than $135,000,000, and affecting more than 30,000,000 water users, is serious. While relief which is necessary should be granted, yet contracts with the government which can be met should be met. The established general policy of this project should not be abandoned for any private control.

Highways and Forests

Highways and reforestation should continue to have the interest and support of the government. Everyone is anxious for good highways. I have made a liberal proposal in the budget for the continuing payment to the state by the federal government of its share for this necessary public improvement. No expenditure of public money contributes so much to the national wealth as for building good roads.

Reforestation has an importance far above the attention it usually secures. A special committee of the senate is investigating this need, and I shall welcome a constructive policy based on their report.

It is 100 years since our country announced the Monroe doctrine. This principle has been ever since, and is now, one of the main foundations of our foreign relations. It msut be maintained. But, in maintaining it, we must not be forgetful that a great change has taken place. We are no longer a weak nation, thinking mainly of defense, dreading foreign imposition. We are great and powerful. New powers bring new responsibilities. Our duty then was to protect ourselves. Added to that, our duty now is to help give stability to the world. We want idealism. We want that vision which lifts men and nations above themselves. These are virtues by reason of their own merit. But they must not be cloistered; they must not be impractical; they must not be ineffective.

The world has had enough of the curse of hatred and selfishness, of destruction and war. It has had enough of the wrongful use of material power. For the healing of the nations there must be good will and charity, confidence and peace. The time has come for a more practical use of moral power, and more reliance upon the principle that right makes its own might. Our authority among the nations must be represented by justice and mercy. It is necessary, not only to have faith, but to make sacrificees for our faith. The spiritual forces of the world make all its final determinations. It is with these voices that America should speak. Whenever they declare a righteous purpose there need be no doubt that they will be heard. America has taken her place in the world as a republic—free, independent, powerful. The best service that can be rendered to humanity is the assurance that this place will be maintained.

INDEPENDENCE BILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A bill providing for the complete independence of the Philippine islands by October 1, 1924, will be introduced in the senate today by Senator King, Democrat of Utah, it has been learned. Senator King's bill will call upon the people of the Philippines to call a "constitutional convention" and adopt a constitution of their own, on or before that date. Compliance with the bill will result in complete withdrawal of all American troops.

OPEN BRANCH TO HANDLE PARCELS

Postoffice to Increase Staff At Substations to Care For Xmas Traffic

In order to handle the Christmas rush of parcel post shipments, Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson has leased part of the Broadway Central Market, immediately west of the postoffice, and has established a receiving department where packages will be mailed, thus relieving the congestion that would result if the shipments were brought to the postoffice windows. Four clerks will be on duty at the receiving branch in the Broadway Central Market, and additional help will also be stationed at each of the four substations to facilitate the handling of Christmas packages.

The sub-stations are located at the Gateway Market, San Fernando road and Brand boulevard; Stocker street and Central avenue, Webb's Dry Goods store and at 612 East Broadway.

The new arrangement will go into effect on Friday, December 7.

Tells Mailing Time

It is pointed out by Postmaster Jackson that packages intended for destinations one day's travel away should be mailed by December 21; those for points two days away on December 18; those for points three days away on December 16, and those for points a greater distance by December 14. Packages for local delivery should be in the hands of the postal officials by December 22.

Orders that have been received from the Postoffice Department at Washington state that, in accordance with the plans to permit the employes of the offices throughout the country to eat their Christmas dinners at home, the delivery service will be ended on Christmas day at 12 noon, promptly, and packages that would otherwise have been delivered on December 25 will be held over until the next day.

Remodel Braly Home As Apartment House

Remodeling of the Braly home at 505 North Brand boulevard is well under way. Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kirk of Santa Barbara, son-in-law and daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, owner of the property, are in Glendale supervising the transformation of the home into an apartment house.

During late years of the lives of Mrs. Braly and her husband, John Hyde Braly, the North Brand boulevard home was the scene of many social and club gatherings and Glendalians treasure happy memories of the cordial hospitality extended there.

A continuous participation in vain pursuits leads to physical decline.
